

Tax Exemption for Elderly Means Tax Hike for Others

(Editor's Note: Exemption of the elderly from property taxes was promised in the 1964 gubernatorial election by both parties. A committee of the General Assembly is at work in Harrisburg on the proposal, headed by Sen. Richard Frame of this district, but its chore is complicated by the record high tax needs of state government. This three-part series will cover the situation as it exists in Warren County: what such exemption would mean in terms of tax dollars, why it is needed by the county's senior citizens and what is being done to solve these problems.)

BY LES RICKEY

Exemption of property taxes for the elderly would mean about a 10 per cent increase in taxes for other property owners in

Warren County.

The senior citizens of Warren County, as near as can be determined from county tax rolls, pay about $325,000 in property taxes—about 7 per cent of the entire property tax load of $4.5 million.

A lengthy search of assessment records in the county court house shows that about 2,700 persons over 65—listed on the tax rolls as "retired"—own taxable property in which they reside. It is for this segment that property tax exemptions are being considered by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania.

The biggest portion of the $325,000 paid by elderly persons provides them with no direct benefits. It goes for education, which takes from 59 to 83 per cent of the property tax dollar in Warren County.

This means that elderly persons are paying 7 per cent of the costs of education, providing a school system for children they don't have. Their children, if any, already have benefited from past taxes, and the elderly are now paying as much as 10 per cent of the total annual income to support schools.

The study of local tax records conducted by this reporter early in June concentrated on three of the county's 35 tax areas: Ward One of Warren Borough, where a relatively high assessed value is the norm; Ward Three of Warren borough, where a large number of the borough's retired persons reside; and Farmington Township, where a comparatively low number of retired persons live in a rural area.

The search brought out these statistics:

+In Ward One, there are 490 parcels of property which are taxed. The total amount of taxes yielded on the assessed value of $5,410,670 comes to $313,818. The average tax per parcel of property is set at $640.

There are 54 persons listed as "retired" property owners. They pay a total of $23,239 in taxes on an assessed value of $400,495, or an average tax of $430.

The breakdown of those taxes shows that elderly taxpayers in Ward One pay $13,617 in taxes to support the school system, or $250 each. The borough receives $6,808 from these elderly taxpayers and the county receives $2,835.

+In Ward Four, located on the west end of Warren, there are 533 parcels of property valued at $3,433,435, yielding an annual tax of $199,140. The average tax is $374.

WARREN COUNTY

A committee of the General Assembly, headed by Senator Richard Frame of this district, is at work in Harrisburg on a proposal to exempt the elderly in Warren County from payment of property tax. This bill, promised in the 1964 gubernatorial election by both parties, is the subject of a three-part series. The series will cover the situation as it exists in Warren County, what such exemption would mean in terms of tax dollars, why it is needed by the county's senior citizens, and what is being done to solve these problems. THE NATION

As most of the nation began feeling the full impact of the nationwide railroad strike, Congress moved quickly to end it. The House and Senate approved an Administration bill that would end the shutdown for 90 days and then impose settlement terms recommended by a special board if no accord is reached. President Johnson signed the bill at the White House.

THE WORLD

Official statistics show that the burden of fighting in South Vietnam has recently passed decisively to American troops. A study of casualty lists since the first of the year showed that while more South Vietnam troops were killed in the first weeks of January, the situation is now reversed, even though government forces outnumber American troops by about 200,000. Page A3.

The Administration urged both the Viet Cong and the Hanoi regime to permit Red Cross inspection of prisoners and urged the repatriation of the wounded. The statement was interpreted as part of a larger and often secret effort to win relief for prisoners. Page A5.

After Dick Kane had given Betts a 1-0 lead on a solo homer in the top of the first inning, the Beverage men bounced back to score four in the second and three more in the sixth. Page A7.

The Warren Beverage Baseball Club faces a four game slate this week, including a playoff with Ferraro Ford for the first half Glenwood League title on Saturday. Tomorrow, the locals play an exhibition contest in Cory and host Koehler Beer for a loop twinnbill on Sunday. Page A7.

Riots Ebb in Newark, Flare in Plainfield

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — The crisis and the curfew ended yesterday in Newark, after the loss of 24 lives in five days and nights of Negro rioting, but nearby Plainfield continued as a potentially explosive racial time bomb.

One life also was lost in Plainfield. "The rioting and looting are apparently over," Democratic Gov. Richard J. Hughes announced in Newark. He was winding up four weary days on the scene of the worst racial outbreak since the 1965 Watts riots left 34 dead in Los Angeles.

Thousands of New Jersey National Guardsmen were withdrawn from Newark. At the same time a contingent of 100 was doubled in Plainfield 18 miles to the southwest.

There was daylight sniper fire in Plainfield, and cars driven by whites were stoned. Negroes there were said to be armed with semi-automatic rifles stolen from a nearby firearms manufacturing plant.

In Washington, Republican Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the Jersey riots are certain to increase support for a federal anti-riot bill.

A state official on the scene said the Plainfield rioters contrived advance signals to set up the ambush of automobiles on the perimeter of the West End Negro section. And a city spokesman said the disorder "was so perfected it had to be planned."

The governor also promised to keep alert against, and strongly resist, any white vigilante backlash in the aftermath of the Newark riot, which resulted in property damage of over $5 million in this half-Negro city of 400,000.

An initial force of 100 National Guardsmen was doubled during the day in Plainfield, a city of 50,000 about 18 miles away. A white policeman, pleading for his life, was beaten and shot to death there Sunday in a third night of Negro violence.

Plainfield Mayor George Hetfield clamped on a 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew and called the rioting "planned open insurrection."

The racial rebellion that blazed in the heat and humidity of the North Jersey summer also brought flareups in Jersey City and East Orange, where windows were smashed, rocks thrown, fire bombs hurled, and shots fired.

In Washington, President Johnson was reported in close touch with the New Jersey disorders, but no requests for federal aid were received at the White House.

Newark's downtown business section slowly returned to normal. Only liquor stores and taverns remained closed by order of the governor.

The rioting resulted in 1,100 injuries and 1,300 arrests through Sunday night. The Newark death toll included two whites. One was a detective, father of three children. The other, a fire captain, father of six.

Hughes lifted Newark's 10 p.m. curfew, which took effect Friday at the height of the disorders. The governor also withdrew nearly all the 7,000 National Guardsmen and 300 state troopers brought into the city Friday and Saturday. Civil rights leaders had urged such a move, as a first step toward a restoration of law and order.

A small number of Guardsmen and troopers remained for nonsecurity chores — traffic duty, and the escorting of food deliveries into the riot area.

Crisis Averted As Rail Strike Bill is Signed

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — President Johnson last night signed a bill ordering an immediate end to the nationwide railroad strike.

The President acted less than two hours after Congress passed his proposal to end the shutdown for 90 days and then impose settlement terms recommended by a special board if no accord was reached.

Joseph W. Ramsey, the key union negotiator, said the striking machinists union would send its members back to work when it received "an order from the President or his authorized representative."

There was no immediate indication how long it would take to get an order to the union. But an industry spokesman said some trains probably would be in service today.

The bill passed by Congress was almost identical to a measure sent to Capitol Hill by President Johnson more than two months ago. The House passed the bill yesterday by a 244-to-148 vote about three hours after the Senate approved it, 69 to 20.

The measure orders an end to the strike and prevents another shutdown by extending the no-strike, no-lockout provisions of the Railway Labor Act in this dispute for 90 days.

Neither today's bill nor the railway labor act specifies any penalties. If there is a strike, the carriers can go to court to stop it and if the court orders an end to the strike and the union refuses, the court can hold it in contempt and set a penalty as it sees fit. The President will appoint a special five-man board to mediate the dispute.

If there is no agreement within 60 days, the board will recommend settlement terms that will take effect at the end of 90 days if there is no accord by then. The recommendations must fall within the framework of earlier bargaining in the case, and would remain in effect until as late as Jan. 1, 1969.

The President sent a similar measure to Congress on May 4 and it was quickly passed by the Senate. But the House struck out the provision for imposing settlement terms. The measure then remained in a House-Senate conference for a month until the conferees finally reported a deadlock yesterday morning.

Ramsey, a machinists union vice president, said last night that it was "a sad day for American workers for Congress to become the nation's number one strike-breaking agency."

"When we receive an order from the President or his authorized representative issued under authority of the strike-breaking act of 1967," Ramsey said, "we will be forced to obey. We are engaged in a labor dispute, not an insurrection."

Congress acted to end the strike after hearing an urgent appeal from President Johnson, who asked for swift action to head off the "national crisis" he said the walkout posed.

The President said in a letter to Congressional leaders that the "fruits of the strike" by the International Association of Machinists was "snarling our lines of commerce and leaving chaos and confusion in its wake."

He said: "Every minute and every hour the strike continues will create ever-increasing damage to our economic well being and America's national security."

Sheriff's Daughter Killed in Traffic

The six-year-old daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. D.E. Allen Jr., of 11 Dartmouth st., Warren, was killed at 1:05 p.m. yesterday when she was hit by a pickup truck while attempting to cross Pennsylvania ave. at the intersection of Central.

Cathleen Allen, the oldest of the couple's three girls, was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital.

Driver of the truck was Wil-lard B. Webster, of 2709 Pennsylvania ave. W.

Cathy was accompanied by three other youngsters: Cathy Lyle, 6, of 17 Dartmouth st.; Debbie Nodzak, 11, of RD 1 Pittsfield; and Debbie's sister, Roxanne, 8.

Borough police officer Willard Zerbe, who is continuing the investigation, said a witness, Mrs. Dorothy Van Pelt of 1556 Chapman Dam rd., RD 1 Clarendon, was traveling east on the avenue. She told police she saw the children jumping into the street, then back to the sidewalk, and slowed down. Mrs. Van Pelt placed the youngsters on the west side of Central ave.

The witness stated she saw the truck hit Cathy but told police Webster did not appear to be traveling very fast.

Webster said he saw Roxanne start to cross the avenue and was watching her when his truck suddenly hit the young victim, whom he failed to see. The other two girls were still on the curb, he told police. Zerbe said Webster picked the little girl up and carried her to the terrace of Keystone Nursing Home, where she was covered with a blanket until the ambulance arrived.

Debbie Nodzak told officer Zerbe they were on the east side of Central when her sister, Roxanne and Cathy looked east on the avenue but did not look west before attempting to cross from the north to south curb of the avenue.

According to Zerbe the pickup truck skidded more than 90 feet before and 54 feet after impact. The child's body came to rest about 35 feet ahead of where the truck finally stopped.

Police said the ambulance was hampered when traffic refused to move out of the way while it was making its run. Additional police officers were needed to handle the jam.

Yesterday's accident was the second to occur in Warren borough this year.

Cathleen is survived by her parents and her sisters, Darlene 4, and Eileen 3. Also surviving are her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Donnell E. Allen of Warren and Mrs. Elizabeth Fowler and Samuel Lannen of Warren and one great-grandmother, Mrs. Kathryn Kiser of Warren.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Pleasant Township, at 2 p.m. Wednesday, with the Rev. James M. McCormick, pastor of the church officiating. Cremation and burial will be at the convenience of the family.

Friends may call at Lutz-VerMilyea Funeral Home from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorials be made to the children's library at St. John's Lutheran Church.

GNP UP FROM PREVIOUS LEVEL

Economy is on Rebound

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy rebounded during the second quarter from its winter doldrums generally in line with the administration's predictions.

Gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced—increased by $9 billion during the April-June period to an annual rate of $777.3 billion, the Commerce Department reported yesterday. Surging auto sales led the advance.

Half of the increase represented real growth and the rest price increases.

The second quarter reversed the January-March experience when real output declined slightly for the first time since the expansion began in early 1964.

Yesterday's report generally is in line with predictions made June 27 by Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who anticipated the second-quarter advance at roughly $10 billion.

The slight gap between Ackley's estimate and the Commerce Department figure is too small to change the administration's forecast for an economic resurgence during the second half requiring a tax increase to help stem inflation.

The administration sees the predicted resurgence on the horizon and the GNP figures contain signs of it.

Consumer spending, for example, increased by $8.7 billion at an annual rate during the second quarter to $488.9 billion, the department said. It was the largest quarterly increase in more than a year.

The figures showed also a drastic slowdown in the accumulation of business inventories from an annual rate of $18.5 billion during the fourth quarter of last year to a $2.1-billion rate in the quarter just ended.

Ground Fighting In Viet Slackens

SAIGON (AP) — American ground forces hunted Communist troops in 20 different military operations from the demilitarized zone to the swampy Mekong River delta yesterday, but the enemy made himself scarce. The U.S. Command reported only light and scattered skirmishes.

In one, U.S. artillery gunners caught 16 Viet Cong as they prepared to bathe in a stream 320 miles northeast of Saigon, about 340 miles northeast of Saigon, a spokesman said.

A Marine-South Vietnamese sweep in the Con Thien area seeking North Vietnamese regulars — called Operation Hickory II — came to an end with 92 Communists reported killed in the three-day hunt. The Marines reported killing 57 Reds and the South Vietnamese 35. Marine losses were 4 killed and 99 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were reported as light.

VANGUARD TAKES UP POSITIONS

UN Observers Watch Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The vanguard of a 33-man U.N. observer team took up positions on both sides of the Suez Canal yesterday in an effort to reduce tensions on that troubled sector of the Israeli-Egyptian front.

In the diplomatic arena, U.N. delegates were given a Thursday deadline for working out guidelines for an over-all Middle East peace plan that could win approval in the General Assembly. Chances were considered slim.

A spokesman for Secretary-General U Thant said the U.N. observer mission became operational at noon yesterday with four observers stationed on each side of the canal in the Suez sector.

He said a headquarters was established at Ismailia on the Egyptian side and at El Qantara on the Israeli side. Three more were expected at El Qantara and two more at Ismailia today.

The Security Council agreed a week ago to post observers. It took all that time for Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, the Norwegian head of the U.N. Palestine truce supervisory organization, to work out the details in talks with the Israelis and Egyptians, and consultations with U.N. headquarters.

Thant was described as making progress toward recruiting another 20 observers to make up a 33-man team. The Suez sector was quiet Sunday and Monday after a series of air and artillery duels threatened to wreck the U.N. cease-fire.

There were these additional developments attesting to the ferment still going on in the aftermath of the Israeli-Arab war and the inability of the United Nations to resolve any substantive issues:

— Presidents Houari Boumedienne of Algeria and Abdul Rahman Aref of Iraq showed up in Moscow, apparently seeking Soviet support for a possible new round of war with Israel. Soviet reaction was not expected to be enthusiastic.

— Diplomatic sources in Vienna, Austria, said the Russians had urged without much success that their East European allies shoulder a greater load in supplying Communist aid to the Arabs. The request was made at the July 11-12 summit conference of Communist leaders in Budapest, Hungary.

It was evident that the Russians were trying their utmost to salvage something out of the emergency special session which convened over a month ago at their request.

Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan, the assembly president, told the delegates there was a prospect, "however slight," of working out agreement for an acceptable guidelines resolution.

Elderly

Elderly property owners number 58. They pay $13,528 in taxes on property assessed at $233,245. The average tax is $233.

The breakdown for the elderly: They pay $7,927 (59 per cent of their total property tax dollar) for schools, $3,963 for the borough and $1,638 for the county.

+ In Farmington Township, there are 456 parcels of property with an assessed valuation of $1,82,235, yielding $62,635 in taxes. The average tax is $138.

There are 25 retired property owners. They pay $5,029 on an assessed valuation of $94,905, for an average of $201. Of their taxes, $3,511 goes for schools, or some 70 per cent of their tax dollar. These 25 taxpayers pay the county $664 and the township $995.

The three tax areas combined provide the schools with $344,427, with the elderly persons picking up $25,055 of that sum. The average elderly person pays about $183 per year for the costs of education in the county. The total elderly tax bill for the three areas is $41,786, or an average of $305 per elderly property owner of record. This is somewhat higher than the county as a whole, because of the high appraised valuation in Ward One of Warren Borough.

Complicating the entire issue is the county's population trend. Elderly persons are making up a larger segment of the population as years go by. The 1930 census showed that there were only 3,736 persons over 64—only 9 per cent of the total population. In 1960, the percentage rose to 12.7 per cent at 5,780 persons. Estimates for 1970 set the percentage at 13 to 13.5 per cent and the figure is expected to rise to 14 to 14.5 per cent by 1980.

Thus, if the population trend continues, tax exemption will mean even more in terms of tax dollars at the local level.

Rails

tional crisis," he added. "The public interest must take precedence over private interests. The power to act now rests with the Congress."

The Department of Transportation said last night that about 95 per cent of the nation's railroad mileage had been shut down by the strike. The industry said 69 of the 76 major railroads were struck, affecting more than 600,000 railroad workers.

The strike's impact, spreading steadily through the nation from the time that local walkouts began early Sunday, disrupted the economy, mail deliveries and rail commuter service in major cities. The Department of Transportation said that 400,000 rail cars, including 100,000 cars of perishables and 400 shipments of strategic war materials, had been stranded.

The strike, an outgrowth of a wage dispute between the carriers and six unions representing 137,000 rail shop workers, began after the unions withdrew a no-strike pledge to Congress at midnight Saturday. The machinists union was the only one of the six to strike, but other workers honored its picket lines.

Riots

which covered about a third of the city.

Food and medicines were reported in short supply because of the destruction wrought in the riot.

Garbage uncollected since last Thursday rotted in the sun, posing a potential health hazard, and city officials pressed a massive cleanup.

"The main job now," Hughes declared, "is turning to rebuilding the city and to erasing the serious social problems that still exist."

At a news conference, Hughes read a telegram from Roy Wilkins, of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Wilkins expressed concern over reports he said he had received of Newark whites "arming themselves for an open season on Negroes."

Without passing judgment on the validity of such rumors, Hughes promised to use the full power of his office against any white vigilante activity. He said, "I can assure you I will be equally severe."

The Newark rioting began on a small scale July 12 after a Negro taxicab driver was arrested on a traffic complaint. A

Dr. Spock Says He'd Campaign

BY NAN ROBERTSON HTK
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — A third-party "peace" candidate for President in 1968 is "virtually certain" if neither Democrats nor Republicans nominate a man with a "sincere desire" to end the war in Vietnam, Dr. Benjamin Spock said yesterday. The world's most famous baby doctor, who is co-chairman of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, said that while "I don't picture myself as a political type," he would lead the peace ticket if asked. Spock, a 44-year-old pediatrician whose book, "Baby and Child Care," has been bought by at least 20 million Americans—more than any other book except the Bible—added that he would be "proud" to be the vice presidential running mate of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. However, the civil rights leader has already refused to become the peace candidate. Spock read a statement that was highly critical of President Johnson's Vietnam war policies. The statement was adopted unanimously by the 40-man national board of SANE and marked the first time in the group's 10-year history that it had taken a position on a presidential election.

Lindsay's Latest: 'Queen Mary' High

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — New York City is planning to bid about $2 million to purchase the ocean liner Queen Mary for use as a floating high school anchored at the Brooklyn Naval Yard. The purchase and conversion of the 31-year-old British ship, which is due to make its last voyage in September, was declared "definitely feasible" by a committee of marine architects selected by Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Registration For Y Day Camp Is Still Open

Registration for the final week of YMCA Day Camp is still open. Ken Hale, camp director, said yesterday that parents may register boys for the week starting next Monday, the final week of camp. So far this summer, 180 boys and girls have participated in the day camp, held at Sheffield Road and Gun Club on Bull Hill. A large lodge is the main building, it has room for all campers to be inside in case of rainy days. A feature of the camp is the overnight camp-out held each Thursday night. Boys can sleep outside or inside, cook their own meal, and join in campfire songs and programs.

Boys from Sheffield and Clarendon are picked up by bus in the morning along the route, and returned to the YMCA for swimming in the afternoon. The total program includes swimming instruction and a recreation period at the Ypool, archery, BB guns, sports, nature lore and campcraft, crafts, horseback riding, and cook-outs.

The mayor's committee of architects estimated the cost of converting the liner to a school would be $3 million. The architects reported that the ship, which has a theater, three swimming pools and a gymnasium, could be ready for students from Williamsburg and Bedford-Stuyvesant sections of Brooklyn in September, 1968. A conventional high school to serve the same areas would cost more than $10 million and would require about four years to construct, according to administration sources.

The city's bid would require a modification in the municipal capital budget and, as such, would require the final approval of the city council and board of estimate. Aides of the mayor said they were "not aware" that council or board members had been consulted about the bid preparation.

GI's Bear Burden Of S. Viet Defense

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — The burden of fighting the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese has passed decisively to American troops, official statistics indicate. A study of casualty lists since Jan. 1 shows that in the first weeks of the year more South Vietnamese government soldiers than Americans were killed, but that the situation is now reversed. South Vietnam has more than 650,000 men under arms; the United States commitment here totals about 465,000 men.

Since May 1, American deaths have totaled 2,427, compared with 2,010 for South Vietnamese forces. Since June 4, when the government began announcing wounded - in - action figures, 5,838 Americans have been wounded, as against 2,231 South Vietnamese.

So far in 1967, more government than U.S. troops have been killed—5,562 to 4,996—but unless there is a sudden, unexpected reversal of the present trend, by the end of the year American losses will exceed those of the South Vietnamese.

Last year, the Saigon government's losses were more than twice those of the U.S. The announced totals were 11,193 South Vietnamese and 5,024 Americans killed in action. In the opinion of Saigon analysts the statistics demonstrate a continued tendency of South Vietnamese army commanders to avoid battle, despite a determined effort by Gen. William C. Westmoreland's command to instill better, more aggressive leadership.

During the last six months, about half of the government's 120 maneuver battalions have been detached from offensive operations and assigned to pacification duty in the countryside. This has reduced South Vietnamese losses.

The casualty figures also reflect the intense pressure of the North Vietnamese along the demilitarized zone, where most positions are held by American Marines. U.S. casualties in recent months have been heaviest there.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said recently that Saigon's troops would have to prove themselves in hand-to-hand fighting, and would have to be substantially augmented, before the U.S. would be willing to significantly increase its troop deployment here.

McNamara's comments were apparently dictated, at least in part, by Administration unhappiness over the performance of the government troops.

Westinghouse Uses Sound to Roll Metal

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. said yesterday it's trying to roll metal with sound waves so it can make super alloys thinner than ever.

Dr. J. T. Brown, director of the project, explained that high-frequency sound waves inside the drums of rolling mills shakes the metal to its very atoms so it is easier to work with.

He said Westinghouse hopes it can use the process to find new uses for hard-to-work alloys.

Controversial Oath Abolished By Pope Paul

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ROME — Pope Paul VI was reported yesterday to have ordered the abrogation of the oath against modernism that Roman Catholic priests and ecclesiastical officials have been obliged to take for the last 57 years.

Vatican sources indicated that the decree abolishing the controversial oath was issued a few days ago through the Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith — the former "Holy Office" — on the pontiff's personal orders, thus automatically amending the pertinent articles of canon law.

The reported abrogation of the oath, originally decreed by Pope Pius X on Sept. 1, 1910, was viewed here as a major step by the pontiff to reorganize the church. Catholic liberals also interpreted the move as an act of the Pope's faith in the clergy.

To replace the oath, it is said that priests henceforth will simply swear that they "hold just" that which the church has always taught and teaches concerning the doctrine of the faith and to swear to observe "that which concerns the mystery of the church, its sacraments, the celebration of the mass and the primacy of the Roman pontiff."

In apparently setting aside the antimodernism oath, however, Pope Paul has not undertaken to assume a new philosophical position on the underlying problem of modernism or innovation that, in a contemporary form, again faces the church.

Language Conflict

NEW DELHI (AP) — A member of the New Delhi City Council went through the town hall recently painting out English signs to protest what he said was a failure of the administration to promote Hindi as India's official language. Two days later he found his auto license plate daubed with tar—another protester had covered up the English lettering on the plate.

The assemblage consists of more than 1,500 cardboard boxes stacked one on top of the other to form an Italian maze. The one-foot cubes are painted, plastered with pages from magazines, mirrored and lettered in bold letters and bright patterns. Some of the cartons are used to form an 8-foot-high, 30-foot-long wall. Across part of the wall on a painted white background are two blue stars that represent eyes. A wide, curving red line just below is interpreted as a broad smile. The slogan underneath reads: "Discover America — It's 3,000 Smiles Wide."

A smaller sculpture includes empty Nescafe, vodka and bourbon cases stacked one on top of the other. Painted down one side is a distorted Picasso-like face peeking out from a painted hoop-skirted costume. The original stampings on the cases form the "fabric's" design.

Most of the boxes bear quotations. These range from patriotic "The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots" to Thomas Jefferson's through unattributed sayings such as: "You are but a young girl and are working your way through the phones"; "Stamp out everything"; "Get with the action"; and "Christmas comes often for the Christian"; to a variant of the Bible verse, "Guard me, O Lord, as the apple of your eye."

'Doc' Chapman

The death of the Honorable LeRoy E. Chapman has cast over this entire region a pall of sorrow, not only among his family and thousands of friends, but also those who knew him only through his myriad of good works.

One must recall the words of John Donne, written in the 16th Century— "Any man's death diminishes me because I am involved in all Mankind."

By Doctor Chapman's leaving us, we are each diminished beyond the ordinary because there are few of us who were not touched and benefited by the good works of this physician-legislator. From elective office in the borough and the county, which he served as Burgess and coroner, he ascended to the state Senate and long held the powerful post of chairman of the Appropriations Committee where he established a reputation for integrity and fairness.

Himself an astute politician "Doc" Chapman had only contempt for petty

JOSEPH ALSOP

From 'Za Rubezhom!

WASHINGTON — A bitter Soviet attack on the Egyptian Officer Corps has now appeared in the official Moscow weekly, Pravda. It probably means that the price Gamal Abdel Nasser will have to pay for continued Soviet support is a near takeover of the Egyptian armed forces by the Soviets.

The reasons for the attack are as easy to understand as the attack itself. If you have invested something like $2 billion, and all you have got for your pains is shame and humiliation and the unpleasant spectacle of expensive equipment either destroyed or captured, it is only human to get a bit cross.

Yet the Za Rubezhom article goes considerably further than the most disenchanted young American correspondent would ever go about an Allied army, even speaking of treason in the Egyptian Officer Corps under the only slightly milder heading, "Apostasy." Furthermore, the authors are Igor Belyaev, the chief Pravda correspondent for Asia and Africa, and Pravda's man in Egypt, Evgeny Primakov.

The people signing the article make it nearly as official as George F. Kennan's famous article on containment of the Soviet Union—which was de-murely signed Mister, yet announced a policy that has been followed, rightly or wrongly, from that day onward. The Za Rubezhom article's relevant passages begin with a biscuit thrown to Nasser, in the way one might throw a biscuit to a trained seal.

"The achievements of the Egyptian revolution," say Belyaev and Primakov, "are obvious." They list industrialization, "agrarian reform," government control "of basic means of production" and "dynamic development." (The "dynamic development" of Egypt by Nasser is what Sen. Arthur Vandenberg used to call "wild-eyed contemplation," when compared with the evilly undynamic development of Israel.) And the two Pravda correspondents continue:

"But alongside this positive process, negative processes also took place in the heart of the Egyptian revolution. In peaceful times, certain of (these) processes were not duly noticed. . . Now it is essential to draw the proper lesson from the Israeli aggression. What is the real reason for the military failure of the United Arab Republic in the face of enemy attack?

"We asked our Egyptian friends. Their answer could be summarized in one word—apostasy. And they spoke. . . of one (or another) general or senior officer. One cannot imagine that the majority of generals and officers sold themselves to the enemy. Nothing of the kind took place. Nonetheless, (the Egyptian) army gave up position after position in the Sinai Peninsula. And the suddenness of the attack explains much, but not all. . . "The air force is the most privileged branch of the U.A.R. forces. By tradition, . . . only the sons of the wealthiest families can join. . . Similar situations also prevailed in other branches of the armed forces. . . The expression "military bourgeoisie" is wide-spread in (Egypt). . .

"Not all can be blamed on the army alone, (however). In fact, one can replace all the generals, but not solve other important problems. . . Many call for the rebuilding of the governmental apparatus. . . People are convinced that the victorious revolution of national liberation must be accomplished by breaking up the old governmental apparatus. . . The front on which major engagements of the future will take place is internal politics."

If the most self-righteous and anti-administration newspaper in the United States published a comparable article about an Allied government, every one from bootblack to prime minister in the Allied capital would now be on a high, rolling boil because of "U.S. interference." In this case, one must add, certain allowances must be made for the fact Za Rubezhom appears to speak for the semi-Stalinist Soviet Communists.

Yet, . . . the message (most probably from the Soviet army) is nonetheless quite clear; and it is further confirmed by what is actually happening in Egypt. Heretofore, Egyptian officers went to the Soviet Union for training. Now a vast Soviet MAG is being set up in Egypt—which one can perhaps interpret as a major silent compliment to American methods. This Soviet military aid up must have had to be accepted by Nasser as the price for the large arms deliveries recently.

TOM WICKER

Portrait Of a Powder Keg

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Here is a self-portrait of Newark taken from that city's application for funds under the model neighborhood program of the Department of Housing and Urban Development:

"A m o n g major American cities, Newark and its citizens face the highest percentage of sub-standard housing, the most crime per 100,000 of population, the heaviest per capita tax burden, the sharpest shifts in population and the highest rate of venereal disease, new cases of tuberculosis and maternal mortality."

"In addition, Newark is second among major cities in population density, second in infant mortality, second in birth rate, seventh in absolute number of drug addicts and has a rate of unemployment persistent enough and high enough to make it one of only five cities in the nation qualified for special assistance under the Economic Development Act. . . .

"Three out of every four public school children in the city are either Negro or Puerto Rican. . . the percentage of Negroes now living in Newark is an open and active question. Estimates range from a low of 40 per cent to a high of 60 per cent. . . .

Here is what Newark's model neighborhood application had to say about the city's schools: "A yearly turnover rate of 44 per cent, a cumulative 1962-66 dropout rate in grades 9-12 of 32 per cent, one half of the pupils in the sixth grade 18 months below the national average, one-third of new pupils each year being new arrivals to Newark. . . .

Newark has not ignored these problems. It was one of the first cities to get together and use anti-poverty money. It has pushed hard for public housing and urban renewal projects and has a good statistical record in these fields. It has one of the few welfare work experience programs in the nation and established the first neighborhood youth corps."

In 1962 it terminated a contract with the National Conference of Christians and Jews for training programs in police-community relations; but last year it got a grant for this purpose from the Office of Economic Opportunity; and another from the federal office of law enforcement assistance. But Newark's Negroes, who hold the balance of political power, have not exercised it because of a lack of unity and effective leadership; only two Negroes sit on the board of nine councilmen and when another ran for mayor last year, he came in third.

The lack of Negro leadership has allowed a basically white political structure to remain in power—and Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio has opposed rather than fostered the emergence of young, forceful leadership. As a result, the majority of the populace feels itself ignored and abused in the city's management as well as its economy and society.

Addonizio is accused of favoring the Italian minority. Recently he refused to appoint a Negro accountant as secretary of the board of education but named an Irish politician—and Negroes believe Addonizio did so to win the support of Essex County boss Dennis Carey for his gubernatorial ambitions. So great is the lack of human understanding in Newark, despite the city's efforts, that the grievance most often cited by Negroes during last week's rioting—the clearing of about 50 slum acres for a new medical school—is cited in Newark's model neighborhood plan as a "region - shaping force" that would be as significant for the city as had been the construction of an airport.

The choice of an airport as a standard of comparison speaks volumes, since it can have little significance for slum Negroes; so does the failure to realize that tearing down even slum houses can seem an act of enmity to people with no other place to go.

Newark's leaders tried to meet its problems, but they did not really understand its people, and that ought to be the lesson for every other city trying to avoid Newark's tragedy.

Already, Soviet advisory officers have penetrated the entire remains of the Egyptian army, even down to battalion level. And the noble Nasser has arrested and interned over 600 former Egyptian officers, hoping to save his own skin by cannibalizing his counter-parts.

Congressional Ethics Again?

WASHINGTON — The 27 to 1 vote inside the House Agriculture Committee rebuking Rep. Joe Resnick, D-N. Y., for his stand against the Farm Bureau will have far more repercussions than an ordinary Congressional feud, it may well do the following:

1. Put Resnick in the race for the Senate against Republican Jacob Javits, hitherto considered unbeatable.

2. Raise the issue of Congressional ethics once again.

3. Force a showdown regarding the big farm organizations masquerading as nonprofit co-ops but which make tax-free inroads on private business which must pay taxes.

Regarding the first, Democrats have long been looking for a Jewish candidate who could take on Jake Javits. Javits has been a good Senator and aspires to be Vice President.

Part of his political strength lies in his religion which nets him a preponderance of Jewish-Democratic voters in New York City who cross over to the Republican ticket where Javits is concerned. They even voted for him as against Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., for attorney general.

Resnick, a Jew, is a wealthy electronics manufacturer from Poughkeepsie who has been re-elected in an overwhelmingly Republican district. He is one of the bright stars among New York Democrats, and the unfair vote against him in the House Agriculture Committee should boost him as a candidate against Javits.

Reason for this unfair rebuke was the fact that Resnick had dared expose the giant American Farm Bureau Federation as a $2 billion lobbying group which paid no taxes.

For a long time business leaders have been griping over the privileged position of farm co-ops which get by without paying taxes. The Farm Bureau is the No. 1 example. Resnick had pointed out that it operates several insurance companies, gasoline filling stations, automobile accessory stores.

When Resnick first began this campaign, he received commendation from his fellow members on the House Agriculture Committee. "Great stuff, Joe," commented Chairman Bob Poage of Texas. "You're doing fine, keep it up."

However, this was before the Farm Bureau threw its tremendous lobbying power into play. For years it has dominated the farm bloc on Capitol Hill.

Furthermore it has several of its members on the House Agriculture Committee. Under the rules of Congress they are not supposed to vote on an issue where they have a direct personal or pocketbook interest.

Nevertheless, several Congressional members of the Farm Bureau led the fight to disassociate Congress from Resnick because he dared take on the Farm Bureau. They were: Chairman Poage, Bill Nichols, D-Ala., G. V. Montgomery, D-Miss., with George Hansen, Idaho, Robert Price, Tex., George Goodling, Pa., and John Zwach, Minn., all Republicans.

The conflict of Rep. Zwach was especially glaring because his administrative assistant, Verlon Welch, served as legislative director of the Minnesota Farm Bureau from 1961-66.

All of the above Congressmen voted to censure Adam Clayton Powell. But they saw nothing wrong in leading the fight to rebuke a Congressman who dared criticize their own $2 billion Farm Bureau and its tax-free privileges.

Significantly, the House Agriculture Committee meeting to defend the Farm Bureau was held behind closed doors. No security matters were involved; no military secrets; only the question of whether a lobbying group should continue to have tax-free privileges. Yet the public, which has to make up the tax deficit, was barred.

Significantly also, the meeting was called just 24 hours after the Farm Bureau executives met in Chicago to plan strategy against Resnick's attack.

The secret committee meeting was held at 9:30 a. m., and was supposed to last until ten. But the battle inside the committee continued so long that White House assistant Walt Rostow was kept an hour and a half waiting to testify. At the start of the closed-door session, Resnick made a parliamentary inquiry asking that the debate regarding him be open to the press and public.

Chairman Poage remarked that Resnick's criticism of the Farm Bureau already had received "too much publicity." Resnick was voted down.

He then asked Poage to yield. The chairman refused. "You want us to make a martyr of you, and I'm going to do it," remarked the Congressman from Texas.

In the showdown vote disassociating the committee from Resnick's investigation of the Farm Bureau, every Democrat voted against his Democratic colleague from New York except three: Rep. Eligio de la Garza, the Spanish-American from Texas, who supported Resnick; and Tom Foley of Washington and Frank Brascos of Brooklyn, who sat on their hands. They voted "present."

Remarked Rep. de la Garza afterward: "If Resnick was impolite to the Farm Bureau, we should talk to him about it. We don't have to pass a resolution to disassociate ourselves from what another Congressman says. That's his business."

"If a Congressman has to disassociate himself every day from what another Congressman says, we couldn't pass any legislation at all. We'd be too busy disassociating."

ART BUCHWALD

What's in a Name?

WASHINGTON — As if there isn't enough trouble in the world, a British doctor by the name of Trevor Weston has just discovered that people are suffering from an "alphabetical neurosis." He claims the people whose last names begin with the final eight letters of the alphabet, S through Z, have three times as many ulcers and three times as many heart attacks as those whose names begin with the letters A to R.

Dr. Weston says he believes the reason for it is that the people at the bottom of the alphabet are always at the bottom of the list, always waiting for their names to be called. Since they're first in this in school, the S to Z children are filled with anxieties that carry through to their adult years.

I was very skeptical of Dr. Weston's theory, so I decided to see if there was any basis for it.

I went into a bar and asked a man sitting on a stool what his name was. He looked frightened. "Why me?"

"Don't be frightened, sir, I'm just taking a survey for my newspaper," he said, "George Stevens."

"Can I buy you a drink, Mr. Stevens?"

"I'm only drinking milk. I have a bad ulcer. It's killing me."

"That's very interesting. How did you get it?"

"Arkin and Blauvelt gave it to me. They're in my advertising agency, and they're out to get me."

"Why do you think they're out to get you?"

"They got Thomas, Unruh, Young and Vogel. I'm the only one left except for Zimblest."

"Where's Zimblest?" I asked.

"He had a heart attack, his third this year. God knows, I'll probably have one myself soon." He started biting his nails.

"I didn't mean to shake you up so," I said.

"It's not you, I'm trying to get the courage to go home. You see, I was up for a promotion today and I thought I'd make vice-president. Carstairs made it, Douglas made it, Eberhardt made it, Franklin made it, Gregory made it, Hofstatter made it, Iselin made it, Jacoby made it, King made it, Logan made it, Mankowitz made it, Nolan made it. O'Brien made it, Potter made it, Robertson made it, and that was it. They said there were no more v-p positions open."

"That's a shame," I said. "I guess I can't complain. Tait, Upjohn, Verick, Washington, Xavier, Yale and Ziegenhaller were let go."

"Were they given any reason?"

"Allenby, the president, said they couldn't stand the pressure. They were always blowing up in front of the clients. Ziegenhaller thought everyone was out to get him, and they were."

"If you're under so much pressure, why don't you quit?"

"I can't. My kids are in so much trouble in school I need the job. Say, you're not a friend of Abernathy's, are you?"

"No, I'm not."

"That's good. I think it was Abernathy who gave me my second ulcer. Either him or Donovan. They killed Zilch, you know. Say, by the way, what kind of survey are you taking?"

"I'm trying to find out if the people whose last names begin with the letters S to Z are more insecure than those whose names start with A to R."

"Why, that's ridiculous," Stevens said, as he swallowed three tranquilizers. "What will they think of next?"

MASON DENISON

Things Not Going Right

HARRISBURG — The Shafer Administration is becoming irked (and a bit embarrassed) by the decidedly cool and somewhat aloof stance assumed by the legislative branch in recent weeks in relation to the executive branch.

"Things just aren't going right for us," grumbled one administration aide in an understatement of the year.

Perhaps pointing this up quite succinctly is the inescapable fact that the Legislature is now in its seventh month of sessioning, and insofar as Shafer Administration legislative programs are concerned they're just about in the same position they were when the 1967 session convened in January.

It is true His Excellency can chalk up at least two major accomplishments during the early days of his tenure — approval by the Legislature of the constitutional convention and the constitutional amendments subsequently cleared by Pennsylvania's voters at the polls in the primary.

However, whether these can be classified as "personal" accomplishments on the part of the Governor most certainly is moot at best — inasmuch as both Democrats and Republicans had these issues in their respective platform programs, and in fact had it not been for anti-administration Democratic votes the constitutional convention issues wouldn't have cleared the Legislature!

However, pro-administration supporters have been prone to write this up as a "tremendous personal victory" for Mr. Shafer, without which his prestige would have been shot, etc., to the extent that, as one expressed it, "he would have difficulty moving his programs through the Legislature."

This is somewhat ludicrous in light of developments — inasmuch as at this point when most state legislatures have finished their job and gone home, Pennsylvania's still in steamy session with virtually none of the Shafer program moving!

Even the new fiscal year has started, and is now nearly three weeks old, but still the Legislature has not provided him with either an approved budget or an approved tax increase program.

Adding salt to administration wounds of irk and embarrassment was the decision last week of Republican and Democratic legislative conferees on the budget-and-tax dilemma to hold off further discussions until tomorrow — the delay decision having been made the very day His Excellency posted special memos to legislative leaderships urging great speed in solving the budget-and-tax problem!

It has been thusly throughout most of the session, particularly in these later stages.

At this point in the game, more than a half-year after Mr. Shafer assumed office and the 1967 Legislature came into being, the administration has virtually nothing to which to point within the realm of moving in a for programs through the legislative branch.

This sort of thing now is becoming quite embarrassing to an administration which in the early days heard the word "prestige" attached to it so strongly when the constitutional issues bumped through the Legislature — and ultimately the ballot box at the primary — with Democratic support.

That "Democratic support" so evident on the issues on which it was already committed has been missing on the purely Shafer proposals on the legislative front — and is now painting a decidedly different picture from the constitutional issues of some months ago!

The story is different now; it's strictly a hammer and fist affair — with the administration strictly on its own. The results so far (in relation to the legislative branch) have not been conducive to any great tooting of the lutes, other than defensively, on the part of the administration.

ASKS POW INSPECTION, RETURN OF SICK

U.S. Asks Return of Prisoners

By MAX FRANKEL
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The White House called on the National Liberation Front and North Vietnam yesterday to permit impartial inspection of American prisoners and to return the seriously sick and wounded among them.

In an unusual expression of concern about the treatment of prisoners, the United States also reiterated its desire to negotiate a prisoner exchange, through intermediaries or directly, in private or public.

Although they tried at first to represent the statement as a random comment prompted by "press inquiries," officials conceded under questioning that it was a deliberately timed and delicately worded appeal. They refused, however, to explain the secret dealings with the international committee of the Red Cross that lay behind it.

The Red Cross committee has functioned as an intermediary between Washington and Hanoi on prisoner questions, including the recent release of some sick and wounded North Vietnamese soldiers by South Vietnam.

Two aspects of the White House statement took it beyond the realm of ordinary government expressions on the subject.

First, it was the only time, in the memory of White House officials, that they had publicly addressed a formal declaration and negotiating offer directly to the National Liberation Front.

The United States has tried to discuss prisoner issues with the front in private, both directly and indirectly. Publicly, however, it has treated the front as a creation and wholly controlled instrument of North Vietnam with no independent will, a position that some observers believe to have contributed to the front's rejection of private overtures.

A second unusual aspect of the White House document was the fact that it constituted a presidential intervention in a subject normally dealt with by the State Department. In the range of government comments, a "White House statement" is one notch below a declaration distributed in the President's name.

Officials left the impression, without saying so, that the Red Cross committee had urged this procedure on them with some expression of hope that it might bring results.

This, in turn, may be a result of the committee's success in arranging the recent release of some North Vietnamese prisoners. In accepting the arrangements, Hanoi in effect accepted the role of the Red Cross, although it still contends that the Geneva convention on prisoners of war does not apply to American "war criminals" in its control.

More than 20 American soldiers and several American civilians are believed to have been captured by the National Liberation Front in South Vietnam. More than 160 U.S. military men, mostly pilots, have been captured in North Vietnam. Nearly 500 other U.S. military men are listed as missing and possibly captured. But their status remains in doubt because neither Hanoi nor the front have ever furnished complete prisoner rosters.

The White House described itself as "gravely concerned that some of these prisoners may not be treated humanely."

Both North and South Vietnam have signed the Geneva convention on the proper treatment of prisoners, but both sides have been widely accused of mistreating captives. The United States turns over most of its prisoners to the South Vietnamese and has pressured the Saigon government and its army into adopting more humane procedures.

DOING DOUBLE DUTY

FCC SIDESTEPS THE ISSUE

Cable-Pay TV Has Wall St. Agog

By JACK GOULD
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The controversy over pay-as-you-see television finds the Federal Communications Commission a little restless trying to keep up with electronic progress. Last week the agency made public a massive document on broadcast video that might be broadcast over the airwaves. In the process the commission adroitly sidestepped the issue that has broadcasters, impresarios and Wall Street circles much more agog: pay-as-you-see television that wouldn't go out over the air but would be delivered by wire.

The document was a recommendation from a committee of the FCC cautiously proposing that a national system of pay TV be authorized under conditions that would minimize any possible jeopardy to so-called free TV. Later this fall a full commission will decide whether to implement the proposals.

The issue that has been pending before the FCC for 12 years calls for use of a broadcasting station to transmit scrambled pictures that would thwart chiseling set owners. Subscribers to the system would have their sets equipped with a device that would unscramble the images so long as they paid their viewing bills.

Unfortunately for the hardy FCC commissioners, their scholarly contemplation of pay TV over the air stands for almost naught in comparison with the mounting interest in a different kind of toll video.

At present more than three million households are paying for the TV they see in the form of monthly charges for connections to what are discreetly known as community antenna systems (CATV). But the hidden ingredient of CATV is that the same cable carrying regular free TV programs from house to house can also carry a limitless multiplicity of additional program services.

The immediate sales appeal of CATV is the promise of either extended or improved reception of conventional TV broadcast. By erecting an array of aerials atop mountains or high buildings and connecting the antennas by cable to widely dispersed residences, CATV has brought mixed blessings of the home screen to persons living in deep valleys. Now the service is being introduced in New York's concrete canyons, where the quality of reception often is reined only by impoverished ophthalmologists.

Manhattan Cable Television which has a city franchise to wire up the lower half of the borough, recently advertised such exotic TV extras as continuous weather reports, stock quotations and a guide to amusements. These benefits would entail three extra channels in addition to the 10 channels for carrying stations now on the air.

If a cable system can display barometric pressures, curtain times and Wall Street closings it only takes a modicum of additional gadgetry to pipe into the same home new motion pictures or a sports event blacked out on regular stations. Pay TV interests have any number of electronic schemes for collecting fees under such an arrangement. Half a borough would be a fairly formidable moviehouse.

Back in 1965, in fact, an alert cable operator in Williamsport, Pa., introduced an evening half hour of closed circuit bingo with one payoff reaching $220. The New Yorker who may feel the state lottery has everything but action might readily respond to five-figure jackpots in his parlor.

In a spectacularly succinct paragraph on page 108 of its 108-page document, the FCC committee noted that it was not reaching any conclusions apropos of CATV becoming a back door to pay TV. With an average monthly charge of about $5 for a cable connection, the community antenna business is attracting the interests of some of the country's largest industrial concerns. One operator with 75,000 homes hooked up in several communities reportedly scoffed at a bid of $30 million for his business.

The FCC committee gave major attention to the current limited experiment with on-the-air pay TV in Hartford, Conn., a venture being undertaken by R.K.O. General and the Zenith Radio Corporation. One significant figure is that each of Hartford's 4,000-odd subscribers paid out at least $56 annually to see pay TV programs. Statistics of the United States Department of Labor showed that normally the average family spends just under $28 a year for all spectator admissions. So far, according to the FCC, the Hartford experiment is in the red by $3.5 million after three years. R.K.O. General, however, believes the system would be viable with 20,000 subscribers.

In the Hartford test, incidentally, the FCC concluded that pay TV and free TV are not very different in one respect. The paying viewer, as with his nonpaying peer, prefers sports and movies over promising high cultural enrichment.

LOSS OF INFLUENCE FEARED

Arabs' Dislike Worries U.S.

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. diplomats are concerned over the strength of anti-American sentiment persisting in the Arab world despite the fading away of Arab charges during the Mid-East war that U.S. armed forces joined in Israeli attacks.

Jordan's King Hussein has since publicly disavowed the claim, which was trumpeted by Radio Cairo and other Arab mouthpieces in varying versions.

But anti-U.S. propaganda still is finding such wide acceptance among the Arabs — including moderate, educated non-socialists — that U.S. authorities fear America may lose more of its already battered influence in the Middle East.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk made a special effort after last Friday's 99-0 U.N. vote against Israel's Jerusalem annexation to exclaim in a public statement that despite its abstention in the vote, the United States nonetheless "deeply regretted" the Israeli action.

Rusk reportedly repeated U.S. objections to the Israeli Jerusalem annexation Saturday in an hour-long talk with Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban.

In those Arab countries which have not broken relations with the United States, the remaining U.S. diplomats have been underscoring to their Arab contacts such claims as these:

—The United States opposes territorial gains by force.

—The United States wants peace in the Middle East and tried to prevent the war, it now favors an even-handed, long-term settlement.

—American influence in the area is limited, and the Soviet surge of postwar arms aid and calls for Israeli troop withdrawal is no more than a Kremlin bid for domination in the area at the expense of moderate Arab nationalists and their Western friends.

—Arab economic reprisals against the United States cannot help the Arabs and have little impact on the U.S. economy; instead, the Arabs should move on their own for a solution with Israel.

Nonetheless few here expect the United States to emerge from the Arab doghouse for some time to come. For even with the vigorous and successful U.S. move against the Israeli, British and French Suez invasion of 1956 and large-scale U.S. aid to Arabs over the years, America has remained in the Israeli camp when viewed through Arab lenses.

Arabs recall that Israel, which they regard as carved out of Arab lands in 1948, was supported from its birth by the United States, the first nation to recognize it as an independent state, and that public and private American assistance to Israel has continued through the years.

In the current crisis, the Arabs note that Washington was a leader in prewar maneuvering over lifting the Gulf of Aqaba blockade against Israeli shipping; that the United States was among the few nations opposing the U.N. General Assembly emergency session on the Middle East; and that the United States opposed condemning Israel as an aggressor and demanding withdrawal of her troops to prewar borders, and was among the handful abstaining on the Jerusalem vote.

'Minimines' Wound two In Florida

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Northwest Florida's white sand beaches were off limits to the public for the second straight day yesterday while hundreds of servicemen and deputy sheriffs went beachcombing for minimines.

The task force searched for little military gadgets that look like rusty quarters but, as one victim put it, "sting like jelly fish."

Two civilians were treated for minor burns Sunday when the devices exploded as they examined them.

Searchers had picked up several hundred of the minimines by yesterday along a 90-mile stretch of beach from the northwestern tip of Santa Rosa Island to Choctawhatchee Bay.

They also found a 260-pound fragmentation bomb and disarmed it. A military spokesman said the origin of the bomb was unknown.

Called ordnance training devices by the Air Force, 6,200 minimines in a canister were jettisoned into the Gulf of Mexico Sunday by an aircraft on a training flight from nearby Eglin Air Force Base. When the canister hit the Gulf, it broke open and the tiny bombs floated to shore where they were retrieved by unsuspecting bathers.

The military said the minimines were used as warning devices. It added that the little slugs emit a bang like a firecracker when stepped on or squeezed and can be easily "seeded" around military encampments by aircraft.

"I want to emphasize that these devices are not mines and they're not dangerous," said Lt. Col. Pete Ballas, chief information officer at Eglin.

Ballas also said the minimines are not considered secret by the Air Force. But his assistant, Capt. John Gulick, said the devices are being tested in training maneuvers and are considered "something you don't talk about."

On the average there are nearly one and one half acres of forests for every Pennsylvanian.

SOIL SCIENTISTS INSPECT DIRT

ANALYSIS: WARREN COUNTY

Area Soil Studies Completed

By FRANKLIN HOFF

Intensive studies of soils in various parts of Warren County over the past two weeks have been completed.

Soil scientists and students of Pennsylvania State University in cooperation with scientists of Soil Conservation Service of U.S. Department of Agriculture, have conducted a cooperative project, working through Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Roy P. M. Matelski, Ph.D., professor of soil technology of Pennsylvania State University, heads the program, being conducted this year in three counties: Warren, Huntington and Northampton.

At the same time the field studies were being conducted, Cecil Armstrong, soil scientist of the U.S. Forest Service, conducted the first of a series of training sessions on soils, for forest rangers of Allegheny National Forest and their Staffs. Classes were held at the Northeast Forest Experiment Station research laboratories at Buckhannon. Armstrong is presently attached to Monongahela National Forest in West Virginia. Further sessions are scheduled for September, January and April, including field studies.

Of 14 6-ft. x 6 ft. pits dug by the Pennsylvania State University Soil Conservation Service team, six were in the Allegheny National Forest. Others were in forest lands of Collins Pine Company, National Forge Co., Irvine, Conewago Valley Country Club; Warren State Hospital, John Berkebile, Conewago Township and Mrs. Olga Carlstrom, Pine Grove Township.

The soil studies in Allegheny National Forest were made in areas where the big cherry trees grow. They are aimed at determining characteristics of soils on which these valuable cabinet wood cherry trees flourish. A great part of the value of the million and a half dollar income from timber sales in the Allegheny National Forest last year lies in cherry timber, in high demand, which commands high prices.

Commenting on these studies, Dr. Matelski observes: "As we visualize it now, we have soils that are mapped as the same type, but we know that inherently there are differences within a given class. We believe we have found what the difference is. This is a rather fine distinction, but the better cherry trees grow in the somewhat more loamy and deeper soils. These studies should assist in timber management practices, to permit concentrating future growth on the soils most suitable for these trees."

Allegheny National Forest timber management head, Paul W. Sundheimer concurs: "Soil studies will give a better basic understanding of where cherry grows best" he says, "increase our knowledge and provide a further basic tool for more intensive management of the entire forest resource—including the cherry crop. Wild life and timber are involved on every acre of the Allegheny National Forest," he adds. "Recreation involves but 7 per cent of the forest, because it is a restricted area. The rest of the forest is growing trees and forest products."

At each of the 14 sites the soil scientists took two "monoliths," vertical slices of the earth's surface 48-inches deep. These 28 samples were carefully preserved in wood cases about six inches wide and some 70 inches high. Wrapped in burlap they were carefully transported by a university truck to Pennsylvania State University characterization laboratory at University Park, Pa. There they are treated with plastic to preserve them intact.

Other samples from each area studied are subjected to many tests. According to Leon Johnson, soils mineralogist with the party, they will primarily identify the clay minerals in soil samples. "By various physical and chemical analyses, including X-ray studies, we determine types of clay minerals in the soils," he reports. "These we study because many of the properties of a soil depend on amount of surface area on the particles in the soil. The smaller the particles in a soil the greater surface. Smaller particles are primarily clay. In many soils, when fertilizers are applied, the clays hold the plant nutrient, making them available for use by plants growing in the soil."

Several of the monoliths collected by the study team will be returned to the Soil Conservation Service in Warren for future study and demonstration.

History Prof Rejected for Pacifist Views

By DONALD JANSON
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
CHICAGO—The Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities refused yesterday to approve the appointment of Staughton C. Lynd to the history department at Chicago State College.

In a 5 to 1 vote, with one abstention, it approved a statement saying Lynd was being rejected because his 1965 visit to North Vietnam in defiance of the State Department and his espousal of nonviolent civil disobedience "goes beyond mere dissent."

The statement said the board did not question his ability as a teacher and scholar, but believed the teacher had a responsibility "to support and to stay within the laws of this country."

The rejection came despite the unanimous recommendation of the faculty, the college's administration, and the chairman of the Board of Governors.

DESPITE PROTEST OF LANDOWNERS

Land Reform on Way in Colombia

By PAUL L. MONTGOMERY
(c) N. Y. Times News Service
BOGOTA—The rural bishop blinked uncertainly into the television lights as he read through the announcement he had come to the capital to make.

"The encyclical Populorum Progressio states that 'Private property is not an absolute and unconditional right for anyone when others are in need,'" the prelate said quietly.

"Social justice demands that everyone, but especially the church, use their possessions for the good of all men."

When the ceremony in the ministry of agriculture here last week was over, the bishop, Julio Franco Arango of Duitama, had given 800 acres of land owned by his diocese to the government of Colombia for distribution to land-hungry peasants.

The bishop's gesture was a small part of the government's agrarian reform campaign. But it was illustrative of the new sense of purpose that President Carlos Lleras Restrepo has injected into land reform since his inauguration last August. Although the howls of large landowners continue, many sectors, including the powerful Catholic hierarchy, are being brought into the orbit of change.

Agrarian reform is considered one of the most pressing problems in Colombia, as it is in Latin America as a whole. Although 70 per cent of the nation's 19 million people live by agriculture, maldistribution of land has impeded farming development so that its growth barely keeps up with population increases.

The problems of land distribution lie at the extremes of too little or too much. Of the nation's 1.2 million farms, 40 per cent are so-called minifundias of five acres or less. On the other hand, vast landholdings, some of them inherited from colonial times, still exist in almost feudal conditions. The 15 largest holdings range in size from 250,000 to nearly two million acres.

The government, with Alliance for Progress and other aid, is trying to rationalize the patchwork of tiny hillside plots by consolidating them into cooperatives or by resettling the farmers on unused land. Landholdings over 250 acres, as well as unused government lands, have been the major target of reform. The Colombian Institute for Land Reform, the agency of the campaign, has broad powers to buy, expropriate or receive as donations tracts of land for development and eventual transfer to landless peasants.

The agency pays in cash for cultivated land it expropriates, but its price is based on the owner's previous declarations of the value of the land for tax purposes, and these declarations are generally conservative in the extreme.

Since its creation in 1961, the agency has acquired or developed almost five million acres of land. More than 50,000 farm families have been given titles to working plots. The agency also assists in building housing and schools and provides loans and extensions services for the farmers.

About half of the land owned in large holdings is not cultivated because the owners lack the capital. The land that is farmed in large tracts is done under the sharecropping or tenant-farming system. In many places, workers are not paid but merely receive a share of what they produce.

Just glancing in one of the area newspapers we see that John Swogger, the coach who led Mercer to the PIAA Class B basketball championship in March, has resigned his post.

He didn't quit to accept a better job. Swogger implied that he was not happy with the situation in Mercer and that he would like to finish his work at Westminster College for his Masters.

Swogger has coached the Mustangs for two years without an assistant. He said that no attempt has been made to find one. The ex-coach also said that the summer recreation program, sort of a proving ground, was cut off last year.

Without summer basketball a team would revert to mediocrity. Swogger emphasized that he would not be satisfied with mediocrity.

Bob Grimm, who recently called it quits as an assistant cage coach at WAHS, is a former Mercer cager.

While one job opened up another in the area was filled.

Cambridge Springs, a school that for some reason has a hard time keeping football coaches, announced the appointment of Pat Cunningham to the job.

This will be the first top job for the 22-year old graduate of Slippery Rock State College. Last year, his first year in the coaching ranks, he was an assistant at Mars High School.

A current Slippery Rock student has been showing up well on the area sports scene. He is Scott Melville of Saegertown. The left-handed pitcher for Warren Beverage was drafted by the Cleveland Indians about two years ago. He didn't sign because the Tribe wasn't willing to pay.

Roy Swanson, who usually manages to pitch himself into the headlines, was under the eye of major league scouts again last Wednesday. He hurled for the Corry American Legion in warmup to the annual East-West game in Erie on August 5.

The top legion players from the area were selected to participate in an attempt to pick the best to represent the area in the August 5 game.

A pair of Warren County fishermen collected $10 in a fishing contest sponsored by the Atlantic Richfield Company.

Landing the prize-winning fish were Eddie Steadman of 18 Park st., North Warren, and Steven Yucha of Box 265, Pittsfield.

Top prize in the contest was a $10,000 Savings Bond. It was won by Lawrence Rice of Wyoming County. It must be nice to get something besides fish in your hands, especially when it is also green.

In the midst of all the softball tournaments another has sprung up. This one is set for Jamestown with a $300 prize for the first place team. Second place earns $175, third gets $75 and fourth takes home $50.

Opening game will be played August 12. It is being sponsored by the Jamestown Parks and Recreation Department and the Jamestown Athletic Booster Association.

Entry fee is $30. Teams are allowed to register 16 players, one manager, two coaches and a scorekeeper. Last day for entries is August 4. The double elimination event will be played on a couple of fields.

"Rabbit" Swanson reports that Sparky Lyle, formerly a Reynoldsville resident, has made the big leagues with the Boston Red Sox.

Lyle started in the Baltimore organization, but was drafted by the Red Sox. He served about three-years in the minors before moving up to the "biggs." Swanson, a Cleveland scout, had recommended Lyle to the Indians, but the Tribe didn't take Rabbit's advice.

Johnsonburg's Wayne Brechtel may be just a couple years away. He is currently one of the top hurlers for the Covington team in the Appalachian League.

Brechtel is big, 6-4, 215. He throws hard enough, but still needs a couple years in the minors. He is in the Houston organization.

In case you haven't seen the standings of the New York-Penn league, don't bother looking. The two area teams, Jamestown and Erie, are currently fighting it out for the basement.

Auburn and Batavia are tied for the loop lead, with Oneonta third and Geneva fourth. Jamestown has a 9-12 mark and is 4 1/2 games out of first. Erie has a 6-16 slate and trails the leader by 8 games.

Erie lost about nine straight before they found the win column. They even came under the fire of their home town newspaper who called them such things as "Toothless" and "Clawless."

Gerry Littlefield again seems to be about the hottest driver on the area tracks. He picked up his first feature win of the year at the Warren Sports Speedway last week.

He has also driven his 666 to three wins at Tri City Speedway in Dempseytown, near Franklin. Last week Littlefield won a heat race and finished seventh in the feature.

FLEMING ADMIRATION SOCIETY

Friends and former students of ex-Warren High School gymnastic coach Homer Fleming, reclining in foreground of above picture, held a reunion Saturday to renew old acquaintances and honor the man who coached the Dragons to three State Championships in the early 1940's.

Forty-seven attended the get-together at Camp Bullwinkle from Ohio, New York, Maryland and Pennsylvania, with many who were not able to be here writing letters. (See story below)

Gymnastic Teams Reunion Honors Ex-Coach Fleming

Forty-seven friends and former students, some traveling from Ohio, New York and Maryland, honored ex-coach Homer Fleming at Saturday's reunion of Warren High School gymnastic teams held at Camp Bullwinkle.

Following a wet, but enjoyable, afternoon spent visiting and renewing old acquaintances, the group enjoyed a buffet dinner.

George Cunningham Jr., acting as master of ceremonies of the occasion, welcomed the guests and read letters to Coach and Mrs. Fleming from former students who were unable to attend.

Coach Fleming was also presented with a special gift, a very large wooden paddle autographed by all present, bringing back memories of their years at WHS to everyone. The paddle was appropriately inscribed "It Helped," Coach and Mrs. Fleming also received a more practical gift. Addressing the group, Coach Fleming spoke briefly about the early days of organizing tumbling and gymnastics programs here. He mentioned many humorous incidents, particularly how his students used to "pester" him at any hour to practice and learn new routines.

The high spot of the day came after dinner. George "Bird" Wiedmaier, class of 1940, Gene Pring, '41 and Neva Dove Jenkinson, '42, amazed the group with feats of equilibrium and dexterity, despite advancing age.

A lengthy and moving letter from Harold "Zimmie" Zimmerman, now living in Cali, Columbia, South America, was read individually. This recalled circumstances and self-conflicts Zimmerman had experienced to reach the decisions that have since molded his life. With-out complaint, he told of the great trials and tribulations he and his family have suffered since moving from Warren.

The reunion committee of Maxine Matthews Ettinger, Neva Dove Jenkinson, Geneine Horsfield Bean, Eugene Pring and George Cunningham Jr., have expressed their appreciation to everyone who attended the successful reunion. It was hoped that the pleasure that Coach and Mrs. Fleming derived from the reunion was in small measure a repayment for the pair's many kindnesses to all attending.

Cokes-Harris Fight Prospects Grow Dim

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The State Labor Department has set a hearing today into the on-again, off-again Curtis Cokes-Gypsy Joe Harris welterweight title fight.

Officials said Kenneth Hayles of Dallas, promoter of the scheduled July 24 Dallas match, asked for the hearing.

Cokes, the champion, and his manager, Doug Lord, have contended there will be no bout unless Hayles' group pays them some $20,000 owed for an earlier title defense, and puts a $35,000 guarantee for the Harris fight in escrow.

"It (the fight) will be either on or off after this meeting," said Charles King Jr., chief of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, King said representatives of the Texas attorney general's office will look into the legality of the Cokes-Harris contract, as well as the contested contract for the Cokes-Francois Pavilla fight, Cokes and Lord have contended Hayles' group still owes $20,000 to Cokes for the Pavilla title defense.

Lord said he doubted there would be a fight. "But we go by the state commission rules and if they say fight, we'll fight," he said. Harris, a Philadelphian who holds a victory over Cokes in a non-title fight, arrived in Dallas to begin training.

Injuries, Illness Keeping Both Pennant Races Tight

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Broken bones, flu germs and sore arms may have more to do with the 1967 pennant races than 20-game winners and 300 hitters.

With the big league clubs digging into the second half of the season, the absence of injured key performers has served to open up both races.

The St. Louis Cardinals, already crippled by the loss of Curt Flood at a vital time, suffered a stunning blow over the weekend when Bob Gibson, their ace pitcher, was hit by a line drive and suffered a broken bone in his right shin. The flame throwing right-hander will be out of action for at least six weeks.

Just when the San Francisco Giants were beginning to make menacing gestures, Willie Mays was forced out of action with a touch of the flu. Willie has been struggling through a subpar season, but his loss for any period of time has to be a damaging blow to the Giants. Cincinnati is fighting to recover from a series of bad breaks and still has Tommy Harper and Leo Cardenas on the disabled list. Manager Dave Bristol had to shuffle his line-up to fill Harper's right field job and then was forced to juggle the infield by moving Tommy Helms to short and returning Pete Rose to second base from left field.

Billy McCool also just came off the disabled list in time to pitch Sunday.

The loss of Frank Robinson was a severe blow to the Baltimore Orioles, who have been bouncing around the second division. The injury that took Robinson out of the line-up and out of the All-Star game with double vision also cost the Chicago White Sox the services of their regular second baseman, Al Weis.

Robinson has been out of action three weeks and still does not know when he'll be back.

Of course, the Orioles' fine young pitching staff of 1966 has all but vanished due to an epidemic of arm trouble. Steve Barber is now a Yankee and Jim Palmer is on the disabled list of the Rochester farm club with a sore shoulder.

Nobody can tell where the Detroit Tigers would be if Al Kaline hadn't cracked his right hand in a fit of anger after striking out. The additional loss of Gates Brown and the absence of Willie Horton for a stretch were blows to manager Mayo Smith, who still manages to keep the Tigers in the race.

The New York Yankees hardly figure in any pennant race from their lowly ninth place in the standings, but they have their share of injuries. Horace Clarke, out of action for some time, was just ready to return when Dick Howser, his replacement at second base, suffered a broken bone in his right wrist Sunday.

Tom Tresh can't throw, and Bill Robinson has a badly pulled hamstring muscle. Mickey Mantle surprisingly has remained healthy at first base.

Rico Petrocelli, Boston's shortstop, has been playing with a damaged hand that still bothers him. Johnny Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is another on the sidelines.

The list is long and the names are important. The medical reports are more important than the weekly statistics. It may not be the left on base but the left in hospital that will determine the winners this year.

Member-Guest Taken By Marsh, Clarkson

The team of Tom Marsh and Jack Clarkson took a sudden death playoff over the team of Hal Conarro and Bill Edwards to win the Fifth annual member-guest tournament held at the Conewango Valley Country Club over the weekend.

A score of 128 was the figure at which both twosomes tied. Marsh and Clarkson led the opening day golfers with a score of 63. That is also the score that Conarro and Edwards shot in gaining the tie.

In third place in the first flight was the team of Bob Ritchie and Bill Price. They had a score of 130. Palmer Davis and Jack Kessler had a 36-hole total of 133 to win fourth spot. They had to go into a playoff to cop this over the team of Tom Atwell and Jim Berger.

Winning the second flight with a score of 133 was the team of Tom Tourtellott and Pat Harrison. The team of Ross Fisher and Don Norris edged out Pete Juliano and Ed Mean for second spot. Both teams scored 136 in the regular play with the Fisher-Norris team winning on an extra hole.

Wendell Lawson and Dick Lane won a sudden death match from Bob Blair and Dick Moore. Both teams ended regulation play with a score of 139.

McBean Says Phooey to Obscene Tag

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Braves said yesterday they have filed a complaint with the National League against Pittsburgh pitcher Al McBean for allegedly making an obscene gesture toward fans when he was lifted in the eighth inning during an Atlanta rally Sunday.

The alleged incident occurred when McBean was taken out of the game after walking Hank Aaron and giving up a single to Rico Carty, with two out. McBean was replaced by Billy O'Dell, who fanned Mack Jones to end the rally, although the Braves won 2-1.

McBean appeared unhappy about being taken out, and Atlanta fans apparently thought he made some sort of a lecture because they booed him loudly. "I certainly didn't make any obscene gestures," McBean said. He said he was just adjusting his clothing. "I do it all the time," he said.

Plate umpire Harry Wendelstedt said he didn't see anything, and Pittsburgh Coach Clyde King said he did not notice any gestures by McBean.

"Clyde doesn't lie," Pittsburgh Manager Harry Walker said. "Clyde said if anybody saw something like that, they certainly had to have been looking for it."

However, a Braves spokesman who asked not to be identified said that the alleged gesture "was something we just can't permit," and he said Atlanta fans in the stadium and Pittsburgh fans watching the game at home on television saw it.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL ROUNDUP:

Twins Fall, Miss Chance To Share Lead with Sox

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — California's George Brunet stopped Minnesota 2-0 on four hits yesterday and stymied the Twins bid to move into a share of the American League lead.

The powerful Twins, who had won three in a row and six of their last seven, had a chance to catch the first running but idle Chicago White Sox. The loss, however, dropped them one full game off the pace.

Brunet, now 6-12, checked the Twins on only a bunt single by Rod Carew through the first five innings. He struck out six and walked three.

The Angels kept up a persistent 10 hit attack, but were able to bunch them effectively against lefty Jim Merritt only in the first and sixth innings.

In the first, John Werhas tripled and rode home on Jim Freese's single. In the sixth, a single by Bubba Morton, a force play, Bobby Knoop's single and a run-scoring single by Bob Rogers accounted for the other.

The Twins made a major challenge in the sixth, but the hard-throwing Brunet was equal to it.

Cesar Tovar opened with an infield single. After one out, Harmon Killebrew singled, but Brunet bore down and got Tony Oliva and Rich Rollins on fly balls.

Braves-Pirates

ATLANTA (AP) — Felipe Alou cracked a grand-slam home run last night, powering the surging Atlanta Braves to a 6-2 victory over Pittsburgh. The two-out blast in the sixth inning by Alou broke up a pitching duel between the Pirates' Bob Veale and the Braves' Ken Johnson, and sent Atlanta to its fourth straight victory and eighth in last 10 games.

Alou's 10th homer of the season was only the fourth hit off Veale, 10-4, who got into trouble by walking three Braves in the inning.

Joe Torre started the outburst with a single and scored—after Cleto Boyer and Denis Menke walked—on Wood's Woodward's sacrifice fly. Veale then walked Johnson to load the bases, and Alou slammed the second grand slam of his career.

The Pirates spoiled a shutout bid by Johnson, 9-4, in the seventh, Donn Clendenen and Jose Pagan singled and Clendenen scored when Jerry May hit into a double play. Willie Stargell's homer in the ninth produced the other Pittsburgh run.

The Braves scored their first run in the third.

Cubs-Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Reliever Charlie Hartenstein put down a ninth inning San Francisco rally, helping the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 victory over the Giants yesterday.

Rookie left-hander Rich Nye was coasting along on a five hitter and a 4-1 lead with two out in the ninth.

Pinch hitter Dick Groat and Jim Davenport then singled and scored on Bob Etheridge's triple. Hartenstein then relieved Nye, 9-5, and got pinch hitter Willie McCovey to ground out.

Glenn Beckert doubled home Randy Hundley, who had walked, for the Cubs' first run in the fifth inning.

They also scored in the sixth on singles by Pon Santo and Ernie Banks and Clarence Jones' sacrifice fly, and in the eighth on successive singles Santo, Banks and Jones.

Nye, scored what proved to be the winning run in the ninth. He singled, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Billy Williams' single and catcher Dick Dietz' error.

The Giants scored in the sixth on a single, walk, error and Dietz' sacrifice fly.

Don Kessinger and Banks each collected three hits.

Ray Sadecki suffered his first loss against three victories.

Reds-Phils

CINCINNATI (AP) — Vada Pinson's fourth hit of the game, a run scoring double in the eighth inning, paced the Cincinnati Reds to an 8-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies last night.

After Floyd Robinson singled with two out in the eighth, Pinson snapped a 5-5 tie with his double. Pete Rose then was walked intentionally and Tony Perez clinched it with a two-run triple.

The outburst came off reliever Dick Hall, 6-5.

The Phillies tied it in the top of the eighth. With two out, pinch hitter Don Lock walked and stole second. Tony Gonzalez singled him home.

The Reds had gone ahead 5-4 in the see-saw battle on Lee May's homer in the seventh.

Pinson also singled three times and walked.

Ted Abernathy, 3-3, picked up the victory in relief.

BoSox-Tigers

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Foy sparked three scoring bursts with two doubles and a single and Lee Stange scattered seven hits as the Boston Red Sox handed the Detroit Tigers their seventh straight loss, 7-1, last night.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Red Sox as they moved past the injury-riddled Tigers into third place.

The Red Sox jumped on Detroit starter Denny McLain for three runs in the first inning. Mike Andrews led off with a single and scored on Foy's double. Carl Yastrzemski doubled for across and scored the third run on George Scott's single.

Another double by Foy sandwiched between singles by Andrews and Tony Conigliaro added two more in the fifth.

Foy led off the eighth with a single and scored on Yastrzemski's 22nd homer.

Stange held the Tigers in check except for the fifth, when singles by Ray Oyler, McLain and Don Wert produced one run.

Cardinals-Mets

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mike Shannon drove in four runs and Tim McCarver, with four successive singles, took over the National League batting lead at 355 last night as the St. Louis Cardinals retained their two-game lead with a 6-4 victory over the New York Mets.

McCarver who was driven in twice by Shannon, upped his average 11 points to pass Rusty Staub's .352 for life Houston.

Shannon's seventh home run drove in McCarver in the fourth inning, breaking a 1-1 tie against losing Met starter Don Cardwell. Just off the disabled list. A single by Julian Javier added a hit-and-run single by Maxvill made it a three-run frame for the Cardinals, who had lost three games in a row.

Maxvill scored the Cards' final run with an inside-the-park home run in the sixth, his second big league homer.

Orioles-Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Hot-hitting Brooks Robinson slashed a homer and two singles and scored three runs as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the New York Yankees 6-1 last night behind Rookie Tom Phoebus' four-hitter.

Robinson extended his hitting streak to nine games with a leadoff homer in the second inning against loser Mel Stottlemyre 7-10. The Orioles' All-Star third baseman touched off a four-run burst with a single in the fourth, then singled and scored again in the fifth.

Luis Aparicio capped the fourth inning explosion by knocking in two runs with an infield single after Boog Pow-ell's double and Phoebus' ground out delivered one run each. Three of the runs were unearned—the result of an error by third baseman John Kennedy.

Senators-Indians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mike Epstein and Paul Casanova stroked consecutive, run-scoring singles in the third inning last night and sparked the streaking Washington Senators to their eighth straight victory, a 4-2 decision over hapless Cleveland.

A crowd of 23,728 turned out to watch the Senators make it the teams longest winning string since 1949.

The loss was the fifth straight for Cleveland, which spanked out 13 hits but left 10 men on base.

Washington starter Joe Coleman struggled through five innings, stranding seven, and was the winner. He turned over a one-run lead to Darold Knowles, who finished up.

The Senators broke through against Luis Tiant in the third.

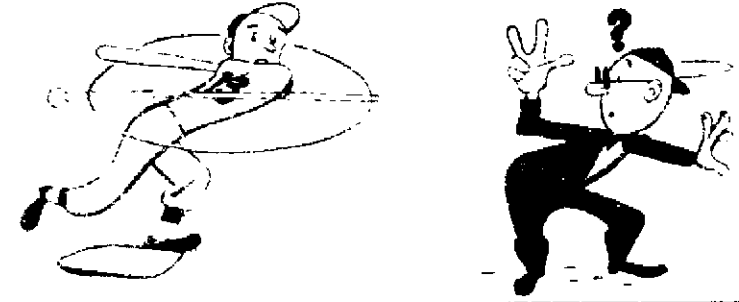

JUST NOT HIS DAY

Ron Hunt, Los Angeles second baseman, is struck on the neck by a pitched ball in the second inning of Sunday's game. Falling to the ground, he was examined by umpire Shag Crawford, with Preston Gomez and a Dodger trainer

Martin Gets OK, Will Fight Ellis

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission yesterday lifted the suspension of heavyweight boxer Leotis Martin and allowed him to participate in the World Boxing Association's championship elimination tournament.

Frank Wildman, chairman of the state commission, ruled that Martin would be able to participate in the tourney in Houston, Tex., Aug. 5 which will determine a successor to heavyweight champion Cassius Clay. Clay was stripped of his title by the WBA when he refused to enter the armed forces.

Wildman had suspended Martin two weeks ago until he honored an agreement to meet heavyweight Roger Russell. The Russell bout originally was scheduled for June 26 but was postponed when Martin injured his right knee during training.

Martin was examined yesterday by a bone specialist, Dr. John Royal Moore, and pronounced fit. In addition to the knee injury, Martin's back had been ailing. After Martin was pronounced fit to fight, Dr. Wilbur H. Strickland, commission doctor, removed him from the "fit and unavailable list."

The WBA said Martin has an obligation to fight Russell in Philadelphia after the Houston bout.

Martin is scheduled to fight Jimmy Ellis of Louisville, Ky., in a double header. In addition to the Martin-Ellis fight, the twin bill will feature a bout between former WBA champion Ernie Terrell and Chad Spencer of San Francisco.

The Beveragemen journey to Corry tomorrow to meet the Corry Keystone Club. The exhibition contest will be played at Loveland Field on Bond Street at 6 p.m. Either Chuck Kovak or Dick Schmidt will be on the mound for the locals with Manager Bill LaRosa behind the plate.

On Saturday, it's showdown time again for Beverage. A playoff between Beverage and Ferraro Ford for the first half title in the Glenwood League will start at 2 p.m. at Glenwood Park. Both teams compiled a 13-3 record in first-half action, splitting four head-to-head battles.

Manager LaRosa has indicated that Scott Melville, 4-0, will be his mound choice for Guy Conti completing the battery. The Girard-based club is expected to counter with Chuck Shreve, a hard-throwing youngster who has won nine straight games in the loop.

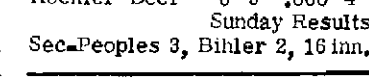

It's back home Sunday for the locals as they host Koehler Beer for a twinnbill at War Memorial Field. The opener is slated to start at 1 p.m. LaRosa will not announce his starting hurlers until game time.

Election No Worry For LBJ

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — With Republican hopefuls treading water uncertainly, President Johnson is mapping long-range strategy for what he seems confident will be a successful race next year for a second elective term.

Recent utterances indicate Johnson has decided to meet head on the issues of waging an intensified war in Vietnam and extracting the additional taxes necessary to meet mounting costs of the conflict without letting the Treasury deficit spiral out of sight.

The American people have never turned out a president seeking a new term in wartime—even in an unpopular war.

No one in the administration looks for a miracle by which the conflict might be ended before the 1968 election. On the other hand, no Republican seems likely to come up with an acceptable alternative to the course Johnson is pursuing.

There will be much talk of peace from both sides. This could bring on another Johnson peace offensive in the weeks before the election. While Hanoi certainly is not expected to encourage negotiations until it sees how the election comes out, the Republican nominee could do little but bite his nails while the President stole the headlines.

Johnson probably will sweeten his request for new taxes with the simultaneous announcement that he is withholding some funds already voted by Congress and cutting spending on low priority domestic projects. To balance somewhat a never popular tax increase, Johnson probably will get from Congress before it adjourns this year an increase in Social Security benefits to mollify older voters.

Johnson got comforting news over the weekend in an AFL-CIO poll that indicated its 13.5 million members overwhelmingly favor his reelection.

The poll, which reached 1,700 members of 12 unions, showed Johnson with a 55 to 22 per cent edge over former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 46 to 30 over Gov. George Romney of Michigan, 60 to 15 over Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and 55 to 20 over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The only surprising thing about the poll of union members who ordinarily support the Democratic presidential nominee was Romney's 47-42 edge over Johnson among those under 30 years old.

AFL-CIO political director Al Barkan said the poll showed "the vast majority of union members support the President's conduct of the war" in Vietnam. But 53 per cent of those polled listed economic problems ranging from living costs and taxes to employment and wages as main concerns.

Johnson's answer to these problems will be to push for a war surtax on income taxes and cut routine outlays to ease the burden of maintaining the "Great Society" programs he is convinced have widespread voter appeal.

Despite a current rise in unemployment and a drop in industrial output, Johnson is banking on government experts' predictions that a second half resurgence in 1967 will carry the economy to a high level into the election year of 1968.

He can reverse the field and speed up the flow of federal money if the economy sags. With these political weapons secure in his arsenal, Johnson is represented as not worrying too much about whom the Republicans nominate.

Guthrie Song Captivates Newport Folk

By JOHN S. WILSON

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
NEWPORT, R.I. — The most unlikely potential song hit since "Yes, We Have No Bananas" or "Flat Foot Floogie" swept triumphantly through the Newport Folk Festival on Sunday, the festival's final day. The song, "Alice's Restaurant," was composed and sung by 20-year-old Arlo Guthrie, son of Woody Guthrie, who is known for his dust bowl ballads and the song, "This Land is Your Land."

"Alice's Restaurant" is a simple bit of doggerel. It consists of only four lines, two of which are repeated three times. Guthrie sings the song at the beginning and the end of a 20-minute monologue, spoken while he strums the tune over and over again on his guitar, in which he tells why he was arrested for littering one Thanksgiving and describes his adventures when he responded to a draft examination.

Somewhat all three elements—the song and the two stories—tie together. Guthrie's delivery was so wry and dry, his timing was so keenly calculated and the simple tune was so maddeningly memorable that it captivated the audience after another

BY MAIL-RAIL SITUATION

New Process Unaffected

The railroad unions could not have struck at a better time for the New Process Company had they conferred with the firm's officials, it was disclosed yesterday.

New Process Co., the area's largest postal customer with its mail order clothing business, is planning no mail release this week. Company spokesman Allen Blair said "It just happens to be one of the blank spots in our schedule." Acting postmaster Francis DeLong reported the strike will hold up only second, third and fourth class mail outside of a 150 mile radius. There is no limit on first class and air mail deliveries. Packages to Vietnam weighing under 5 lbs. are also acceptable. In order to avoid a pile-up, the post office has instructions to refuse mail that will be undeliverable during the rail strike.

The strike by members of the International Association of Machinists has resulted in a nationwide halt of railroad operations. Trans-continental passenger service has been cut, embargoes have been placed on freight shipments, and commuter tie-ups have resulted in many large cities. The largest railroad strike to hit the country since 1946 has also threatened the shipment of Vietnam war goods.

Kenneth Knight, Clarendon, Named Civil Defense Head

The Warren County Commissioners yesterday appointed Kenneth Knight of Clarendon to the post of county civil defense director.

Knight's appointment was unanimously endorsed by other CD divisional directors and was highly respected for his ability by the late William C. Fuellhart, who was serving as county director at the time of his death.

Knight was director of the radiological division and had been appointed by Fuellhart to be the man in charge in the event of a nuclear attack.

The commissioners also approved the temporary appointment of Roy Sherman of the county mapping office to serve as acting zoning officer. He will handle details while planning director and zoning officer Robert Peterson is on vacation.

An hourly rate of $1.74 an hour for working to eradicate barberry areas in Columbus and Lander was set. Removal of barberry, which if diseased causes rust to appear on other types of timber, is temporary work. Help is needed and applicants may contact William Allen, chief clerk at the court house.

Yesterday's session was conducted without Blain M. Mead, who was in Harrisburg.

Clarendon Man's Son Is Decorated

Major John L. Nichols, recently awarded the Republic of Vietnam's medal of honor, first class, has again been recognized for "meritorious service."

Major Nichols has been awarded the Bronze Star for distinguished service in his position as a real estate officer, Office of the Director of Construction, United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam.

Maj. Nichols, a resident of Weaverville, N.C., and son of Ralph Nichols of Clarendon, was cited for applying "outstanding professional skill, vigorous leadership, tact and diplomacy in the acquisition of real estate for use by U.S. and Free World Military Forces."

The official report continued, "By his personal initiative, coupled with his technical and diplomatic skills, Maj. Nichols pursued each action resolutely to completion and to the mutual interests and satisfaction of the governments of Vietnam and the United States."

He was responsible for processing more than 150 real estate actions, each requiring research and evaluation of validity before submittal to the Joint General Staff, Republic of Vietnam Armed Forces. These duties necessitated field trips, and often personal risk, for reconnaissance and evaluation of the construction capabilities of the sites prior to the arrival of units.

Maj. Nichols also processed the acquisition of over 1700 acres in the Delta area for construction of a large troop base, and worked for the coordination and negotiation for additional land at Vung Tau to enlarge that "critically important logistical base."

The report concluded, "His preparations and arrangements for real estate in Long An Province in conjunction with project Enterprise went far to establish favorable rapport between military forces and the local populace. Major Nichols' distinguished performance of duty throughout his period of service in Vietnam reflects the utmost credit upon himself, the U.S. Military Assistance Command, Vietnam, and the United States Air Force."

Senator Frame Voted Yes On Six Bills

State Senator Richard C. Frame voted yes on six bills which passed the senate last week.

Among the legislation were bills providing for certification of deaths by dentists and eliminating the requirement of referring cases to the coroner when dentists are in attendance.

A bill also passed providing for a probationary period for new cadets and trooper members of Pennsylvania State Police. The House passed a bill to increase the membership of the law enforcement agency.

Frame also voted yes on legislation imposing liability on parents for personal injury, theft, destruction or loss of property caused by willful acts of children under 18 years of age.

Another bill authorized sale of certain personal property on Sunday by persons observing another day of rest. Other bills dealt with motor vehicle inspection regulations and regulating use of dealer registration plates.

In the House a second bill passed amending the County Code by authorizing certain clerks of orphan's court to appoint solicitors.

West Hickory Youth Injured In Auto Crash

A 17-year-old West Hickory youth suffered minor injuries in a one-car traffic accident at 3 a.m. yesterday on Grun-derville rd., six miles south of Warren in Pleasant township.

State police of the Warren substation, who investigated, said a car driven by Michael James Prelog, traveling west, went out of control, skidded across the highway and struck a telephone pole on the south berm.

Prelog was treated and released at Warren General Hospital for a small head laceration.

Damage to the car was listed by police at $400 and $150 to the utility pole.

Police are continuing their investigation.

Corry Youth Suffers Lacerations

MAYVILLE, N.Y. — Earl Martin, 19, of Corry suffered extensive facial lacerations at 11:10 p.m. Friday when thrown into the windshield of a car in which he was a passenger.

According to the sheriff's department, a car driven by Raymond Mitchell, 24, also of Corry, was traveling on county road 426 in French Creek township when the driver lost control of the vehicle.

Police said the car went into a skid after Mitchell applied the brakes on a curve. It backed across the road and hit an embankment,

Study Derailed

LONDON (AP) — The Greater London Council has put off a decision on whether to introduce memorials to ease traffic congestion. Marienville Man Held In Larceny

A 20-year-old Marienville man is in Warren County jail in lieu of $250 bail bond, charged with larceny is Clarence Milton Brooks who, according to State police trooper Harry W. Jabo, is also wanted as being AWOL from Griffith Air Force Base in Rome, N.Y.

Jabo and Sheffield police chief Steve Haden arrested Brooks last Thursday and charged him with the theft of a radio and battery from a 1959 Ford sedan owned by William F. Smead, of 29½ S. Main st., Sheffield. Jabo said a check of junk yards in the area revealed the items had been sold to a yard in the Kane-Wilcox section. Police recovered the articles, valued at $55 and, police said, Brooks admitted taking them.

Police said the airman is also wanted by state police of the Tionesta substation for larceny of a motor vehicle. Brooks was also cited by Trooper Daniel Portzer for stealing an inspection sticker from another vehicle.

THE ANNUAL LUNCHEON UNDER THE TREES, for members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club, turned out to be something less than that last week. Rain made it necessary for the affair to be held within the confines of Fellowship Hall at First Presbyterian Church. Nonetheless, the luncheon — a menu of varied and delicious casseroles, salads and desserts — provided by all the members was a thoroughly enjoyable one. Mrs. John King, Mrs. Robert McAbee, Mrs. Lawrence McCreedie, Mrs. Gerry Wortman and Mrs. Arthur Mueller, all new members, were introduced. Mrs. Creed Erickson told of the State Hospital Volunteer Program, and had the pleasure of seeing several members sign up. Mrs. Palmer Davis and Mrs. John Brown requested help for the Red Cross blood donor days. The really big event coming up — the fashion show to be held at the Inn of the Three Flags on September 7th — was one of the main topics at the luncheon meeting; another was a picnic for couples to be held in September at Kiasutha Recreational Complex at Kinzua Dam.

AND, IF YOU'RE INTERESTED IN THE BIRDS AND FLOWERS, this year the Chautauqua Bird Tree and Garden Club will present its annual benefit on Tuesday, July 25th, from 2 to 5 p. m. It is to be a house and garden tour of the North Shore of Chautauqua Grounds. Tickets are to be $2, and will be available at the gate. The event affords financial aid for the beautification of Chautauqua grounds, and several delightful little parks, such as the Smith-Wilkes Garden, the Bishops Garden, the Arboretum, and the Knox Garden. More on this later. In the meantime you might like to mark the date down on your calendar.

GARLAND GALA DAYS, one of the annual events on the county calendar takes place this year from August 23rd to August 26th. Right now the committee is interested in getting the younger women — ages 14 through 18 — to register for the Queen's Contest. All girls of Eldred Township and Pittsfield Township, District 2, in the aforesaid age group, are eligible to enter. Registrations will be taken this Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the Garland Fire House — And, if you can't register then, just call Mrs. Lee Nobles at 563-9689. Lewis Crippen will be present Friday evening to take pictures of contestants, for the paper.

MINIATURES: The Friendly Neighbor Club meets with Mrs. Raymond Warner for a picnic tomorrow at 12 noon. Dessert will be provided.

The members of D.A.C. will have a luncheon meeting on Thursday, July 20th, at 1 p. m. at the Penn Laurel Motel. Make reservations no later than this evening by calling Mrs. William R. Brown at 723-2711. Other committee members are Mrs. Melvyn Haupt, Mrs. Clote Mead, Mrs. Carl Lindberg, Mrs. Ralph Theodore, Mrs. W. C. Fuelhart, Miss Theresa Marsh. A community tureen supper on Thursday will be held at the Stilson Hill Church, 7:30 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend — Bring a tureen and table service. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Firth will show pictures of their Scandinavian tour.

Ann Landers
Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I a dummy or what? A very close friend of mine joined the WACs last year, and she seemed to love it. When she returned for Christmas leave she gave us all a snow job about what a great life she was leading.

Well, last week she came home five months pregnant with no wedding ring. She told everyone that she had become involved with an officer and didn't realize until it was too late that he was married and could not get his freedom. She insists she received an honorable discharge from the WACs. I say her statement is an insult to the intelligence of a thinking person. That girl must have been discharged dishonorably under the circumstances. Wasn't she? Please answer in print. I want others to see this, too. DUMMY?

DEAR DUMMY: What difference does it make to you if the girl was discharged honorably or not? It so happens that your friend didn't receive a dishonorable discharge from the Army. It was simply an official document separating her from the service.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I plan to be married in the Fall. The problem is my parents. They want to remodel the back of our house and make an apartment for us.

They have hinted about this for several months and my fiancé and I have talked it over and neither of us wants it. We had never said no, straight out — until last night. It caused a lot of hard feelings and I am sick about it.

My mother called me a selfish brat. She wants to know why we would rather pay out rent money to a stranger than give it to Dad who could use it.

I love my parents very much and have always gotten along well with them. They have made many sacrifices for me and now I feel like an ungrateful wretch. But, Ann, I really think we would be better off completely on our own. Please tell me if I am right or wrong. I need your thinking. NEWSDAY READER

DEAR READER: I believe you and your fiancé are entitled to make this decision without being pressured and, in my opinion, you made the right one. The fact that your mother tried to make you feel that you are a selfish brat is pretty good evidence. I hope you will stick to your position and not collapse under the burden of unearned guilt.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine told me about a vinegar diet which sounds wonderful. She lost 10 pounds in two weeks and all she did was drink vinegar in warm water. I think it was equal parts of each. I want to try it but I am a little leery. I know you check with doctors, and I would appreciate your advice in this matter. I like the sound of this diet because vinegar is harmless. Thank you. CHUBBY

DEAR CHUBBY: Vinegar can kill you if you drink enough of it. Forget about that kooky diet. Excessive acidity can wreck your intestinal system and give you stomach trouble for the rest of your life. If you want to lose weight eat food that has a low calorie count.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage—What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of this newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MRS. DAVID L. LASECKI
(Nelson, Dunkirk)

St. Hyacinth Church,
Dunkirk Scene Of Wedding

St. Hyacinth Church, Dunkirk, N.Y., was the scene of a Nuptial Mass on Saturday morning, July 15, at 11 o'clock, in which Sally Ann Bialaszewski and David L. Lasecki pledged their wedding vows. The Rev. Father Casimir Zak, pastor, was the celebrant of the Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter P. Bialaszewski of Dunkirk, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Lasecki also of Dunkirk.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Rosepoint lace over white peau de soie, fashioned with fitted bodice and portrait neckline etched in pearls and iridescent. The long sleeves tapered to wedding points at the wrists, and the removable bouffant ante-bellum floor length overskirt of lace, with a scalloped hemline, cascaded to form a graceful cathedral train. Her veil depended from a crown of matching lace and pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses with stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Miss Rosemary Bialaszewski, the maid of honor and sister of the bride, with the following bridesmaids, The Misses Patricia and Mary Ann Bialaszewski, sisters of the bride, and Miss Lorraine Mikula of Cassadaga, a cousin of the bride. The honor attendant was in petal pink and carried red roses; and the bridesmaids were in lilac, maize, and Nile green respectively, each carrying colonial bouquets of roses. The flower girl was Mistress Tina Marie Marul, a cousin of the groom. She wore a frock of turquoise and had for her flowers pink roses.

The best man was James J. Lasecki, brother of the groom, and ushers were John Halas Jr., of Victor, N.Y., a cousin of the groom, James A. Gilebarto of Jamestown, and William Pienta of Dunkirk. The ringbearer was Joseph M. Bialaszewski, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose an ensemble of silk crepe and lace in turquoise and flower cloche with white accessories. The mother of the groom was in a mint green sheath with white accessories. Both had corsages of white orchids.

A breakfast was held for the bridal party and members of the immediate families and out of town guests at the Kosciuszko Club, where the reception took place that evening from 6 to 12 midnight, with 400 guests in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Lasecki travelled to Montreal, Canada, and Expo '67, for their wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at 11 Elm street, Warren. Her traveling costume was of white cotton lace.

The bride is a graduate of Dunkirk High School, and was employed by M. Wile and Co. The groom, a Dunkirk High School graduate, also graduated from Erie County Technical Institute in Buffalo. He has served four years in the United States Marine Corps, and is presently a draftsman at Struthers Wells Corp., Warren.

Out of town guests attended the wedding from Silver Creek, Fredonia, Cassadaga, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Pennsylvania, Jamestown, Lancaster, Rochester, N.Y.; and Warren, Penna.

Wednesday Scheduled
Bargains at Midway

"Wednesday Bargain Day" at Midway Park, the recreation center on the shores of Chautauqua Lake at Maple Springs, appears to be one reason for the new attendance records being made there.

The "Bargain Day", a promotion held each Wednesday offers special prices for children's rides, games, snow cones and other Midway attractions. Wednesday and Saturday night dances featuring live music are another popular attraction among high school and college students.

With the 16-week season at the half-way point, Frank Walsh director of park activities, reported that attendance this year is ahead of that in previous years and heavy bookings for industrial picnics during the remainder of the season promise more record-breaking crowds.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL McMICHAEL

Mary Robbins Of Corry Weds Daniel Jackson McMichael

The wedding of Miss Mary Allen Robbins and Daniel Jackson McMichael took place in the First Methodist Church, Corry, on Saturday afternoon, July 8, at 3 o'clock. The Rev. Walter W. Gilliland, pastor, officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Allen Robbins Jr., R.D. 1, Whitney Run road, and the groom is the son of Mr. Ernest McMichael of 103 Essex street, and Mrs. Bertha McMichael of 8 1/2 East Park Place, and a grandson of Mrs. Ethel McMichael of 14 Parker street, Warren.

Twin vase arrangements of white carnations, ferns and salal leaves adorned the altar for the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Gerald Lloyd was at the organ, and Miss Cynthia Sturgis was vocal soloist.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride appeared in a slim empire style wedding gown of lace bodice and georgette skirt over taffeta. The bodice, embroidered with pearl and crystal beads, had a rounded neckline and its short sleeves were trimmed with bows matching the skirt. A sleeveless coat of the taffeta, worn over the bridal dress, extended into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion depended from a petal headpiece with rose trim and lace leaves edged in crystals and pearls, and she carried a colonial arrangement of white carnations, white roses with lilies-of-the-valley with rosebud streamers.

Mrs. Samuel Robbins, sister-in-law of the bride, was the matron of honor, in a floor length pink gown with matching headpiece and veiling and carrying a single long-stemmed rose with satin ribbon streamers. The bridesmaids, also in pink, and carrying flowers identical to that of the honor attendant, were the Misses Nita Sproverl and Harriet Robbins, sister of the bride. Mistress Cindy Robbins, youngest sister of the bride, was the flower girl and had a pink floor length dress with dainty floral print. She wore a flower band headpiece and carried a miniature nosegay of white pompons and pink sweetheart roses.

Timothy McMichael was best man for his brother, and Roy Hall, Frank Jackson Jr., cousin of the groom, were the ushers. The ringbearer was Thomas "Odd Couple"

"The Odd Couple" recouped its original investment of $150,000 in 29 performances. At its closing it had a gross of $5,750,000 and a net profit of $890,000 — for the New York company.

It also toured and is a movie starring Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon. The play opened with Matthau and Art Carney.

Hints From Heloise

Scooping Ice Cream

DEAR HELOISE: When making a double-decker ice cream cone especially at children's parties, first put a scoop of ice cream in a small dish.

Place your cone upside down on the rounded scoop of ice cream in the dish and press down gently. Then holding the edge of the plate, turn the cone right side up. This gives you a flat top on which to put another scoopful.

After the second one is plunked on, just tip it lightly with the scoop.

This leaves you with one portion in and one out of the cone with no fear of losing the top layer.

Laura Somerville
This is a real doozy. Laura saves tears as well as dropped ice cream. Why not mix flavors, too? Bottom vanilla and top chocolate makes a gay and tasty cone. And don't forget to plunge your scoop in cold water after each serving so the ice cream will be easier to dip up.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: When I'm sunning myself on the patio, rather than take the chance of overdoing it, I just set the timer on the clock radio.

When the music stops I know it's time to turn over and sun the other side.

I reset the timer and can be back and relax until the music stops again.

I figured this out after getting "overdone" one day.

Mrs. Helen Elomhe

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever had a good purse, but the stitching came out of the strap?

I iron on rug binding and stitch it over the old stitching. As this binding is available in many colors, you can buy it the exact shade of your purse and cut it as narrow as needed. This is especially great for shoulder strap bags.

Mary Murar

DEAR HELOISE: Don't throw away outgrown or worn rubber thong beach sandals.

I use the heels of these old thongs for doorstops.

I cut about two or three inches off the heel and discard the front.

They make perfect doorstops that never slip and hold the door securely so drafts won't slam them shut.

Opening lead King of ♠

An alert bit of defensive maneuvering by West induced the declarer to take a false step which proved fatal to the latter's four heart contract.

West opened the king of spades and continued with the ace on which South dropped the queen. The outlook was not very bright for the defense for with the appearance of a singleton club in dummy, it was clear that one trick at most could be cashed in that suit. Furthermore if the declarer had two diamonds, he could take the rest of the tricks once trumps were drawn.

West concluded that his only chance to interrupt the run of the diamonds rested on finding his opponent with a singleton in that suit. He accordingly shifted to a diamond at trick two in an attempt to sever South's line of communications. The ace was played from dummy as declarer followed with the jack.

South was not certain how many immediate discards were available to him and in an effort to ruff at least one club in dummy he led the nine of clubs from the North hand. East put up the king and shifted to a trump. Declarer won the trick with the jack and ruffed a club with the king of hearts.

The king of diamonds and jack of spades were cashed, as South disposed of his remaining clubs. On the high diamond West followed with the eight, however on the jack of spades he dropped the ten. This created the impression in declarer's mind that his opponent had started with only three spades—the ace, king, ten—and that if another spade were led from dummy declarer might subject himself to an overruff.

South decided to lead a third round of diamonds which he trumped with the nine of hearts. West overruffed with the ten to score the setting trick.

Observe that if West follows to the third spade with the five, South may decide to come off dummy with a spade which he can safely ruff with a small heart, preserving the queen and ace to complete the drawing of trump.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, JULY 18, 1967

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Unexpected barriers always dismay, then become "usual" and can be coped with as others. Consider this and other obstacles possible this day. Avoid tension.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Discontinue whatever has had its fair chance and failed to offer improvement, but do not be too quick to cut corners or turn down a suggestion without hearing ALL its points.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Mercury influences hint at new activities or a happy repetition of something that pleased before. Notice "little" things; they often open the biggest doors.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—You may have to throw in your lot with the opposition, but first consider facts, advantages. Be vigorous in exercise of duties, and don't let the unfamiliar throw you off guard.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—To escape into a new interest, situation or activity in order to get away from another solves nothing. Face matters in a mature manner, and be philosophical about temporary delays.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—You rarely imitate, are always alert, able to produce in your own way. However, this day requires more attention to others' methods and know-how. Don't start what you cannot finish.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Fine planetary influences give a lift to your personality, enhance your attractive mannerisms and ability to spur matters to a livelier pace. A day for achievement.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—You may add real dash to this day, but be careful not to get too

"worked up" overwrought. Interesting situations, complications to avoid. Travel with care.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—This day promises to advance many interests and activities, but mostly generally, the will to aim for better living and attainments. Projects close to your heart can be furthered considerably with the right push.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—If someone deserves your time and talents, give where it will help, but refrain where too much is expected. And don't promise more than you can deliver.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Especially favored now: Outdoor activities, organization interests and family matters. You should have smooth going. Why not try something new? Get out of the old rut.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Be sure to be consistently straightforward and articulate now. Dress up an old idea, give an inert interest new life, be enthusiastic.

YOU BORN TODAY are affected more deeply by people than by things or events. Money is not all-important to you, but you like it for the means it affords you to distribute gifts to loved ones and the underprivileged. You would be a soothing, helpful social worker, nurse, hospital attendant, but may not take up any of these occupations since you feel you would become too attached and affected by the unfortunate. Your entertaining skills and charming manner are appreciated everywhere. The Cancerian also excels in advertising, promotion, theatricals (again your intense feelings to the fore), geology and history. Avoid worry, jealousy. Birthdate of: Wm. Makepeace Thackeray, novelist; John Glenn, U.S. astronaut.

ADULT EDUCATION

Adult education is a wonderful antidote for the loneliness and boredom that beset many retirees. Facilities for self-improvement should be used more frequently by persons over 40 years of age. Education stimulates and augments independent thinking. It also helps the individual communicate with his neighbor.

Technological progress encourages submissiveness. It is easy to become a robot after a routine day at the office and succumb to television, popcorn, and beer. In time the capacity to think shrinks and the potential faculties of the mind atrophy from disuse. Magazine abstracts, commercials, and political slogans replace critical evaluation that brings emotional satisfaction. Those who graduate from this environment into retirement have difficulty adjusting.

The passive individual soon feels insecure and falls for authoritarian voices that promise everything. In time he develops prejudices and becomes intolerant. Such a person enjoys any entertainment that makes him feel superior without trying.

Accumulating worldly goods is not an end in itself. The retired individual finds more satisfaction in a worthwhile endeavor that brings a sense of achievement. Adult education is one way of acquiring this goal. Discussion groups encourage independent thinking and help to dispel lethargy.

Thru education the individual is better able to face the social pressures of today. Modern society trends to belittle individual effort and the depreciation is accentuated when carried over into retirement. To be happy, our sense of values must improve. This can be done but it should not be put off until it is too late.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Rural inflexibility.

LITTLE FOOLER

Mrs. E. writes: What is false pregnancy? Can it happen more than once?

REPLY

As the term implies, this is not a real pregnancy. It is an emotional disorder in which the woman thinks she is pregnant because of cessation of menstruation, enlargement of breasts and abdomen, morning sickness and labor pains at the end of nine months. She goes thru all the preparations for having a baby, including the layette. If the little fooler happens once, it can happen again.

DARK CIRCLES

J.L. writes: I have dark circles under my eyes. Is this a sign of some illness? I have a good appetite and sleep well.

REPLY

Illness may be responsible, but there are other possibilities. Our leaflet on this subject can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

If you want health insurance that pays you as well as your doctor...

...the man from Nationwide is on your side.

Our medicine is easy to take.

Ordinary health insurance usually does a fine job with medical bills. But often that isn't enough. Who pays for your family's expenses—food, clothing, rent—if you're sick and can't work?

The man from Nationwide can offer you a health plan that picks up the tab where most basic hospitalization plans leave off. It assures that you will still have an income if you become totally disabled by accident or sickness and can't work.

Nationwide will send you a "pay check" every month. When you buy your policy, you select the amount you want to be paid, based on your income—anywhere from $50 to $600 a month.

And you choose the period you will be paid—two years, five years, even life.

The man from Nationwide is on your side. Ask him about Nationwide's nice, green medicine. It's easy to take.
